3000 Regulars Occupy 20-Mile Line Because of Arrival in City of Chinese Soldiers.

THREE MORE U. S. SHIPS IN HARBOR

French Colonials and Marines Erect Wire Entanglements to Protect Their Section of City.

By the Associated Press.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 25.—Three thousand British regulars took up defense positions along the borders of the international settlement here tonight because of the situation created by the arrival of Chinese troops in increasing numbers in the city.

No American marines were landed for the present, since defense posts do not call for the use of these in the border service. They are to be held for maintenance of order inside the settlements.

The British troops occupied a 20-mile line, part of it running into Chinese territory, surrounding the international settlement. The line was considered indispensable to the defense of the city.

Within the line formed by the troops, but outside the settlement, reside 8000 foreigners. Also within this area is foreign-owned property worth $15,000,000.

Barbed Wire Entanglements. Defenses along both the international and French settlements were strengthened with barbed wire entanglements and sandbags, while machine guns were mounted at strategic positions.

The French erected wire entanglements along the entire boundary of their settlement, which borders on the native section of the city. Twenty French marines were landed there to share defense of their concession with 400 Annamite troops.

The British line of defense was set up after a request had been made by the Shanghai Municipal Council to the Consuls of certain foreign powers for aid in defense of the city. No request was made to American Consul-General Gauss, since it previously had been understood that the Americans were not to partake in the defense of the border.

The first American landing force now available is composed of about 1500 marines. This force can be increased to 2400 men by the use of binoculars.

More U. S. Ships Arrive. The American defense force having been augmented with 1200 marines from San Diego, Cal., yesterday, was strengthened further today with the arrival of three destroyers, the Preble, Noa and Hulbert, from Manila.

More of the Northern Chinese troops under Gen. Chang Tsung-Chang, Military Governor of Shantung, arrived this morning, and it was estimated that 8000 will have reached the city by tonight.

Officers of the Shantung forces said the Northern Chinese battle squadron of 16 ships has left Tientsin, Shantung territory, and is due about at Woosung anchorage off Shanghai. The vessels, one of which is manned by Russians, also are bringing considerable Shantung land forces.

Another Battle. It was reported that a clash occurred yesterday north of Kashing between the Nationalists and soldiers of the defeated Marshal Sun Chuan-fang. The engagement was not decisive, the Northern army having been weakened by desertions and lowered morale.

It was learned that the Northern forces have retired to Sungking, only 25 miles from Shanghai. It is estimated that strength there is not more than 16,000 and that quick reinforcements will be needed if the city is to be held against the advancing Southerners.

The Shanghai labor situation is virtually normal. Not more than 15,000 men are still on strike.

Envoys in Peking Warn Chinese Military Leaders.

By the Associated Press.

PEKING, Feb. 25.—The diplomatic body yesterday issued a warning to the heads of the conflicting Chinese armies, saying that, in view of the possibility that military action in the region of Shanghai may at any moment endanger foreign life and property, it expects them to take all measures necessary to avoid incidents which would constrain foreign authorities to take measures "indispensable to the protection of their nationals."

18 Escape From Burning Ship.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 25.—The crew of 18 men escaped in a single lifeboat when the freighter Artemis, out of Tampa, for Cuba, burned to the water's edge, 2 1/2 miles south-west of Key West, last night. It was reported here today that the ship was carrying 1000 tons of cargo.

C. E. BENNETT, ONCE STAR CATCHER, DIES

Inventor of Chest Protector Played With Detroit and Boston of Old Nationals.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 25.—Charles E. Bennett, a noted figure in organized baseball of more than 40 years ago, died at his home here last night after a long illness. He was 72 years old.

Bennett was a leading catcher and hitter of the old National League during an era when gloves and other modern paraphernalia were unknown. He topped off his career by captaining the Detroit team to the world's championship in 1887.

In recognition of his services, Bennett Park, former home of the Detroit club, was named in his honor.

"Home Run Charlie," as Bennett was known to fans, played his first professional baseball with a team in New Castle, Pa., and later joined a Milwaukee team at a salary of $150 a month, which was regarded as a munificent pay for a player at that time.

In 1879, Bennett signed his first big league contract with the Worcester club of the National League and displaced "Doc" Bushong, until then regarded as the star catcher of the league, as regular backstop. Bennett caught Dr. Richmond, the first southpaw pitcher the league boasted.

A few years later he signed with Detroit of the same league and while here perfected the first chest protector to be introduced in organized baseball. The device consisted of a pad filled with cork, which was worn under the shirt.

The invention was kept secret for a time and Bennett created a sensation by letting fast balls strike him on the chest, while the fans marveled at his apparent immunity to injury.

Bennett with three others, was sold to Boston in 1888 from $28,000 a record price at that time. He was forced to quit the game the following year, however, when he lost both legs in a train accident.

Of late years Bennett had been engaged in the pottery business.

$30,000 for R. W. Imbrie's Widow.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—A Senate resolution to award $30,000 to Mrs. Katherine Imbrie, widow of Vice Consul Robert W. Imbrie, who was killed by a person bomb in July 1924, was adopted last night by the House. It must go back to the Senate, however, because of an amendment stipulating that acceptance of the money would constitute settlement of all claims arising from an attack on her after the death of her husband. Mrs. Imbrie also has been paid $60,000 by the Persian Government as indemnity.

F. L. WHAM AGREED ON AS SUCCESSOR OF JUDGE ENGLISH

Senator Deneen Recommends Centralia, Ill., Man for Post Vacated on Eve of Impeachment Trial.

Arguments Made Before Three Federal Judges at Kansas City for Discontinuance of Writ.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—A special court of three Federal judges applied today the arguments of attorneys for the State of Missouri and the City of St. Louis against a continuance of the 8-cent street car fare in St. Louis. It was contended that the Federal Court was without jurisdiction to order the street railway's application to the Missouri Public Service Commission remains undecided.

The Judges—Reeves and Otis of the District Court and Stone of the Appellate Court—were considering whether to grant an interlocutory injunction restraining the 8-cent fare, obtained under a temporary order from Judge Reeves on Feb. 8, until they can hear the case on its merits.

Muench Appears for City.

City Counselor Muench of St. Louis told the court that the railway's application to the Public Service Commission last June for an 8-cent fare or two tokens for 15 cents, beginning in September, the earliest moment at which its accounts were free to investigate and determine whether the increased fare was necessary to give the company a fair return, the commission has been operating since then.

Under the Constitution, a Congressman cannot be appointed to an office where the salary has been increased by the Congress of which he has been a member.

Deneen Not Eligible. Deneen voted last session to increase the salary of Federal Judges and therefore would not be eligible for appointment until after March 1, 1927, he said. Under the consideration could he have taken over the office until May 1, because of other business. He said that he understood that the President wanted a man who could take up the work immediately. Senator Deneen said Deneen had had considerable support throughout the State for the judgeship, but in view of the President's attitude, which had been manifest in other appointments, he thought it best to find another candidate. The recommendation was known to fans, played his first professional baseball with a team in New Castle, Pa., and later joined a Milwaukee team at a salary of $150 a month, which was regarded as a munificent pay for a player at that time.

McNARY AND HAUGEN WILL RENEW FIGHT NEXT SESSION

Farm Relief Will Win in End, They Declare. Though Veto Blocks Action By This Congress.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The bitter disappointment of farm bloc leaders over President Coolidge's veto of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill was coupled with a warning that the fight had not ended.

Although there is no hope of action at this session of Congress, the measure seems certain to come back before Senate and House next winter, raising an issue which many political leaders expect to see carried prominently into the political campaign of 1928.

The two Republicans whose names were linked in the drafting of the bill declared they had no intention of striking their colors.

"This is a grievous disappointment to us," said Senator McNary. "However, it is not a permanent setback. The fight will be renewed and continued until agriculture is placed on a level with other industries. We are here to stay."

Representative Haugen said: "We are very much disappointed."

fort is an employment of the co-operative powers of the Government to the end that certain special groups of farmers and processors may profit temporarily at the expense of other farmers and of the community at large.

The chief objection to the bill is that it would not benefit the farmer. Whatever may be the temporary influence of arbitrary intervention, the long-run effect, if the long-run price will be governed by the law of supply and demand.

The President then develops the thesis that the bill, by holding out the prospect of higher prices, would increase production and thereby lower the price of the product.

The effect would be an increased exportable surplus to be dumped on the world market, and this in turn would mean a constantly decreasing world price, until the point was reached where the world price was sufficiently low so that, even though increased by our tariff duties, commodities would flow into this country in large quantities.

The proposed farm board, the President says, would have almost unlimited control over the agricultural industry. Not only, he goes on, would it have the power to fix the prices which the producers of the so-called basic commodities should receive for their goods, but that it would be able to fix the price, which the consumers should pay for them.

There could be no appeal from the arbitrary decision of these men, he says, under constant pressure by their constituents to push prices as high as possible, he says. "This bill, if it accomplishes its purposes, will raise the price of the specified agricultural commodities to the highest possible point and in so doing the board will oppress the farmer."

COOLIDGE VETOES McNARY-HAUGEN FARM RELIEF BILL

Ideals of American farming the men who grow cotton, corn, rice, wheat, tobacco or wheat, and nothing else. These are to be given special favors at the expense of the farmer who has toiled for years to build up a conservative farming enterprise to include a variety of crops and livestock that shall, so far as possible, be safe and keep the soil, the farmer's chief asset, fertile and productive.

If this is true, farm relief measure, why does it leave out the producers of beef, cattle, sheep, dairy products, poultry products, potatoes, hay, fruit, vegetables, oats, barley, rye, flax and the other important agricultural lines?

"So far as the farmers as a whole are concerned, this measure is not for them. It is for certain groups of farmers in certain sections of the country. Can it be thought that such legislation could have the sanction of the rank and file of the nation's farmers?" There is an unsharpened condemnation of the "equalization fee" feature of the bill. This fee, authorized to be levied on certain farm products by the Federal Farm Boarding, is a levy by the President to be a tax, the purpose of which is to pay the losses incurred in the disposition of the surplus products in order to raise the price on that portion of the products consumed by other people.

McNARY AND HAUGEN WILL RENEW FIGHT NEXT SESSION

Farm Relief Will Win in End, They Declare. Though Veto Blocks Action By This Congress.

Points in Dispute.

Two outstanding points of controversy dogged the McNary-Haugen bill's stormy three-year passage through Congress and almost from the start forecast its upset at the White House.

These were the equalization fee and the method of selecting the Federal Farm Board, which would have administered the bill's provisions. Originally incorporated in the bill to overcome charges that agriculture was seeking to be subsidized by the Treasury, the fee, which was to have been collected on basic farm commodities, was attacked as an unconstitutional tax levied by opponents of the legislation. The fee would have been a sum, its amount determined by the board, assessed against each marketed unit of a crop in which the board happened to be dealing.

The President denies the claim that the bill has the unanimous support of the farmers. Some of the largest of the farmers' organizations, he says, have refused to countenance it.

The President commends to the attention of Congress other plans of farm relief "without these unconstitutional invasions of executive authority, this contracting of other manufacturers and in inevitable crash, without this indirect price-fixing, buying and selling, this creation of huge bureaucracies."

No other presidential message since the war days has attracted such an outward manifestation of interest among members of Congress. Although it was addressed only to the Senate, in which the bill originated, the reading of the message in the Senate chamber was listened to by what virtually amounted to a joint session of Senate and House.

Because of the legislative situation the reading was not begun until shortly after 3 p. m. By that time most members of Congress had heard of the veto, but they were anxious to hear the President's words in which the President put the seal of his disapproval on the bill.

Havoc of the Early Morning Windstorm

WILLIAM ELIAS, of 4571A Arco avenue, and his family narrowly escaped injury at 4:15 a. m. today when an 80-foot elevator shaft on a building operation next door was blown over during a high wind which preceded the early morning rain. The tower crashed down on the house while the family slept, heavy timbers smashing through the roof.

Three of the accused men, arranged in the deal with Assistant Circuit Attorney Stack.

Two Cases Week, Stack Says.
"I had Pinson but our case against Knox and Schooley was weak," Stack explained to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "When Russell offered to enter pleas of guilty for them, I Pinson could get the same sentence, I was tickled to death. I understood that the purchasers of the loot were bringing pressure on Knox and Schooley to plead guilty. The Police Department was very anxious to get Knox, so I agreed to accept pleas of guilty from Knox, Schooley and Pinson to petty larceny and let them each take six months in the Workhouse. I didn't have anything to do with determining the nature of the evidence against the purchasers. I didn't know anything about that angle."

Assistant Circuit Attorney Roos, who handled the case before the grand jury, gave the following explanation of why he did not proceed against the owners of the Western Scrap Iron Co.:
"We knew we could get the thieves, but we were not sure we could make a case against the men who bought the wire," he said. "That frequently happens. Generally, in cases where there are two hands, one stealing and the other buying what the first stole, we have to make a choice. We can't convict all of them."

Arraid of Immunity Deal.
"Of course, we might have got Pinson and Schooley and Knox to testify against the Western Scrap Iron crowd. But to do that we would have had to promise them immunity. Supposing they went over the grand jury and cleared the purchasers. Everybody would have gone free."

It was suggested to Roos that since Pinson, Schooley and Knox had served their terms and were not now in jeopardy, they might be willing to testify against the men who bought the stolen goods. Roos promised to take the matter up with Circuit Attorney Siders.

Pinson said: "I'm willing to talk on the whole. I think 'they've threatened to bump me off, but I'm not afraid, Jim Schooley would talk, too."

DR. ROBERT BARCLAY DIES OF HEART AILMENT

Specialist Was First Stricken on Thanksgiving Day, but Continued His Practice.

Dr. Robert Barclay, an ear, nose and throat specialist, died today of heart disease, at his home, 378 North Taylor avenue. He suffered his first attack last Thanksgiving day, but continued his practice until last Friday, when he was ordered to bed.

Dr. Barclay, who was 69 years old, was a brother of Shepard Barclay, former Circuit Judge, who died Nov. 17, 1925. He was the son of David R. Barclay, lawyer, author, editor of Barclay's Digest and at one time owner of the St. Louis Dispatch. Dr. Barclay received his elementary education here and attended Trinity College at Hartford, Conn., from which he was graduated in 1880. He then attended the College of Physicians and Surgeons at New York City, graduating in 1882.

Dr. Barclay began his practice here in 1885 and became an specialist for the Missouri Pacific Railroad and in charge of clinics at a number of St. Louis hospitals. He was regarded as an authority on diseases of the ear and was the inventor of a number of instruments used in aural surgery. In 1886 Dr. Barclay married Miss Minnie Gene Hamilton of Hartford, who died in 1906. They had three sons, Robert H. Shepard G. and 1914. Dr. Barclay married Miss Emily Carlin Jourdan of Carrolltown, Ill., who also survives him. Arrangements for funeral services await the arrival of Dr. Barclay's sons, who reside in the East.

CONSTRUCTION TOWER BLOWN OVER ON FLAT

Eighty-Foot Framework Crashes Into Roof of Dwelling—
Two Escape Injury.

An 80-foot elevator tower on a construction job on Kingshighway boulevard, north of Arco avenue, was blown over by the high wind at 4:15 a. m. today, fell across the rear alley and crashed down on the roof of a two-story flat building at 4571 Arco.

Mr. and Mrs. William Elias, asleep in a back room on the second floor, escaped injury. Awakened by the crash, they ran to their living room and discovered that a 200-pound pulley wheel had smashed the roof timbers of the flat. The pulley had fallen and timbers of the elevator shaft were sticking through the ceiling. Several windows were smashed and in the alley outside was a heap of broken lumber.

A front hall room in the Elias flat was a mass of plaster and broken laths. Usually the room was occupied by Miss Katherine Schroeder, who by a lucky chance had chosen to spend last night at the home of friends.

The tower was the property of the McCormick-Coombs Construction Co., which has offices in the Columbia Building, and was erecting a site of a $200,000 temple for the Lambskin Masonic Lodge, construction of which was begun recently. It cost about $300. The damage to the flat building, owned by Henry LaPine, who lives on the first floor, was estimated at $1000.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias were driven from their home by the fumes of escaping gas, which flooded the rooms, from broken pipes. This morning workmen began improvising a derrick on the roof to remove the pulley wheel before it could fall through into the building.

The Weather Bureau estimated the wind velocity early today at 40 miles an hour.

hour. That's the way I always drive—15 to 20 miles an hour, driving four and one-half years. We made the boulevard stops, and I had no knowledge that a police car was following me. I was driving along just like anybody else."

"Did you hit a machine at Kingshighway and Delmar?" his lawyer, Emmert Golden, asked.

"No, nothing of that kind happened, though it was slippery there. I went south on Kingshighway, made the boulevard stop at Lindell, and took the left turn around the post."

"A machine cut around on the wrong side of the post, and cut me off, so I couldn't miss it. It hit the front of my car. I was driving about 10 miles an hour, having just made the turn."

"I stopped me all of a sudden, and I was thrown over the steering wheel. My head hit the windshield. I still have a mark where my knee was bruised. I thought for awhile one of my ribs was broken, it hurt so. I was kind of knocked out."

"I got out, excited, for I didn't know what it was all about. I started to walk to the front of my car. Then I saw a policeman (Jones) on the south side of my machine. I looked up and saw another policeman (Lowry) with his hand on his pistol. (Here the witness went through the motion of tugging at a pistol in a holster.)

"I drew, and I said to him, 'Don't draw, Lowry.'"

Here both Golden and Circuit Attorney Siders interrupted the witness, asking if he meant that he recognized Lowry and called him by name at that time. Lowry said:

BUCKNER TO QUIT AS U. S. ATTORNEY, HE TELLS COURT

Makes This Reply to Defense Charge That Daugherty-Miller Prosecution Is Political.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Announcement of his intention to resign his office as United States District Attorney for this district was made by Emory B. Buckner this morning at the opening of his summation in the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial.

Buckner set the date for his resignation two months from today. He has held the office about two years. Government counsel for Thomas W. Miller, former Allen Property Custodian, that the conspiracy prosecution was brought about by "a difference of viewpoint between Washington and New York policies."

In announcing his intention to resign, Buckner asserted he was not a politician, had no political axes to grind and that his action in resigning was in accordance with an arrangement made when he assumed office.

The case is expected to go to the jury Monday.

Fifty thousand dollars of bonds which the Government contends have been traced from Richard Merton, German capitalist, to former Allen Property Custodian Thomas W. Miller for illegally allowing transfer of $7,000,000 American Metals Co. impounded assets to the Societe Suisse Pour Valeurs encounter on Lindell boulevard.

"Well, he died later."

"I knew orders were out in St. Louis to kill me if I returned here," the witness ventured to further explanation of his act.

Lowry repeated that he saw Patrolman Jones leave the police car, but said he did not know how Jones came to be wounded in the ankles. "I have an idea," he added, "but I don't care to say."

After the defense had concluded its case with the sole testimony of the defendant, the State called Dr. Henry Rosenfeld of the City Hospital staff, who treated Lowry on the night of his capture.

Rosenfeld said the only injury he found was the bullet wound in Lowry's right arm. He said he found no trace of the bruises of which Lowry told.

When asked the windshield of his car, or from a blow with a police flashlight.

An interested listener to Lowry's story was a young woman who yesterday told reporters that she was 21 years old, and that she had been married to a man named Montez. She said she and Lowry were engaged, and that she had expected their wedding to take place Sept. 25, the day of the killing of Lowry. She said she did not know Lowry on that day. They had planned a trip to California, she said.

"Then Capt. Tierney came up to me and said, 'You will kill a policeman,' and poked me with his gun. He shifted his gun to his left hand, took out a flashlight, and hit me on the head with it, almost knocking me down."

"At the Post Station, all I told them was that I shot Lowry in self-defense. I told them I was in pain and needed a doctor, and that I wouldn't say anything until I could see a lawyer. They said I would have to make a statement first. I wouldn't go to, because I knew the police would do anything to frame me."

En Route to Agency.

Circuit Attorney Siders, cross-examining Lowry, took him over the incidents of his drive from Chicago, accompanied by Faith Lowry, said, in reply to a question, that he paid $100 for the Oldsmobile in Chicago. He said that, in driving east on Lindell boulevard, he intended to go to the local Oldsmobile agency. As to carrying a pistol, Lowry said he "was going on the law," referring to a statute which permits interstate travelers to be armed for self-protection.

"You killed Lowry, didn't you?" the circuit attorney demanded, after going over the incidents of the

U. S. FLYERS HOP OFF FOR SEACOAST OF ARGENTINA

Leave Bahia Blanca, Their First Stop After Crossing Andes, for Mar del Plata 230 Miles From Buenos Ayres.

By the Associated Press.
MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina, Feb. 25.—The Pan-American good will flyers of the United States Army arrived here this afternoon from Bahia Blanca.

By the Associated Press.
BAHIA BLANCA, Argentina, Feb. 25.—The four planes of the United States army's Pan-American flight left here at 11:30 this morning continuing their good will tour of Latin America. Their next scheduled stop is Mar del Plata, on the Argentine coast, 230 miles from the west coast of South America.

By the Associated Press.
BAHIA BLANCA, Argentina, Feb. 25.—After crossing the Andes Mountains in four planes, the United States army aviators on a good will flight to South American countries, arrived here from Valdivia, Chile, yesterday afternoon, having made the 630-mile trip in six hours, 15 minutes.

Commander Herbert A. Dargue, in charge of the flight, said the trip was pleasant. The only difficulty met by his plane was when it had to rise to a height of 12,000 feet in crossing the mountains.

An enthusiastic crowd, which included Government and military officials, awaited the arrival of the Americans, and when the planes were sighted burst into cheers. The New York landed first, followed quickly by the Detroit and St. Louis. The San Francisco was delayed until some time afterward.

From here the planes will go to Buenos Aires, thence northward, skirting the coast of Brazil and the Guianas.

The fifth airplane of the expedition, the San Antonio, which has been delayed by engine trouble, is still on the west coast of South America.

Italian Aviator Arrives at Bahia, Brazil, From Pernambuco.

By the Associated Press.
BAHIA, Brazil, Feb. 25.—Commander Francesco de Pinedo arrived here this afternoon. The Italian flyer had left Pernambuco at 10:45 o'clock this morning, continuing his four-continent flight from Italy.

Pinedo Describes Hardships of Atlantic Flight.

ROME, Feb. 25.—The flight of Commander Francesco de Pinedo across the South Atlantic Ocean from Porto Praya, Cape Verde Islands, to the island of Fernando Noronha, off the coast of Brazil, was a conquest, not only of the elements in their worst moods, but of a series of heart-breaking strokes of bad luck, as related in official reports from the aviator.

The report was read last night before the Chamber of Deputies by Signor Balbo, Under Secretary of State for Aeronautics.

In the 14-hour flight across the South Atlantic to Fernando Noronha, Pinedo said violent equatorial rain storms forced the machine to the crests of waves, heat caused the water in the engine radiator to boil so that it was necessary to pump into the radiator every drop of drinking water aboard the plane in addition to several pints of rain water gathered with sponges. Oil and gasoline had to be pumped constantly from one tank to another.

des Metaux, were not a bribe, according to Miller's counsel, in his summation yesterday.

They were given Miller by the late John T. King, former Republican National Committee member from Connecticut, as reimbursement for funds spent in a Delaware political campaign, Sapirio maintained.

Why Daugherty Burned Records.

Harold H. Corbin, counsel for former Attorney-General Harry M. Daugherty, co-defendant with Miller, alleged a reason for Daugherty's alleged burning of certain records of the Midland National Bank of Washington, Conn., was the Government claims these showed deposits to Daugherty's credit from the sale of Liberty bonds which had come to him from Merton as a bribe.

"They (the investigators) wanted to know what those records showed," said Corbin. "They were the records of a political fund. He was being hounded, hounded, hounded. So he burned them."

Corbin's summation for Daugherty contained a warning to the jury that a verdict of guilty would cause his client to "die on the spot on which he hears of his conviction."

Another point in Corbin's final speech was a hint that Jesse W. Smith, Daugherty's intimate friend had been the guilty one in the payment by Merton of a $441,000 "fee" for allowance of the Schenck claim. If there had been any wrongdoing, the "still small voice of conscience" may have caused Smith's suicide in Washington in 1925, Corbin suggested.

MOVIE MAN ENDS LIFE BEFORE HIS GUESTS

Lynn F. Reynolds, Widely Known Director, Fatally Wounds Self After Quarrel.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 25.—Lynn F. Reynolds, 36 years old, widely known Hollywood motion picture director, husband of Kathleen O'Connor, R. syndicate actress, died in a Los Angeles emergency hospital today from a wound in his head said by police to have been caused by a bullet fired by Reynolds with suicidal intent.

A furious quarrel with his wife preceded the shooting, last evening, according to Mr. and Mrs. William H. White, dinner guests in the Reynolds home at the time.

Reynolds returned home late yesterday afternoon, after having been paroled for days in the High Sierras, where he had been on location directing a picture with Renee Adoree and Robert Frazer in the leading roles.

Leaves Dinner Table.

The Whites had been invited to a dinner at the Reynolds home to celebrate his homecoming, they said.

Reynolds had hardly entered the house, White declared in his statement, when the director and his wife began a quarrel which lasted all through the dinner and in which each made accusations against the other.

Suddenly rising from the dinner table, Reynolds rushed into an adjoining room and took a .38-caliber pistol from his bag. Mrs. Reynolds followed, and a scuffle ensued, according to White. When the Whites followed them into the room, they found Mrs. Reynolds lying on the floor with Reynolds kneeling on her chest and brandishing the pistol in her face.

Struck Wife With Revolver.

"He was trying to make her admit something," White said. "She was frightened and admitted everything he demanded. Once he struck her in the face with the gun."

"My wife attempted to pacify him, but he struck her with the gun and ordered her not to interfere."

"Then, before we could stop him, he suddenly arose to his feet, placed the gun to his temple and pulled the trigger."

Mrs. White corroborated her husband's statement.

WESTWOOD COUNTRY CLUB BUYS NEW SITE

Pays Earnest Money on $200,- 000 Purchase of 222 Acres in County.

Earnest money has been paid to the owners of 222 acres of land facing on the Ballas and Conway roads, St. Louis County, for a new site for the Westwood Country Club, now on Berry road, Glendale. The purchase price is understood to be a little more than $200,000. The membership of the club includes many of the Jewish social leaders of St. Louis.

Officers of the club said they were not ready to discuss plans for the move, but last December it was announced the organization desired a new location. At that time it was said an investment of more than $500,000 was contemplated, to be financed by an assessment and admission of an undetermined number of new members. The plans called for a clubhouse to cost about $100,000, a swimming pool, tennis courts and possibly two 18-hole golf courses.

Twenty acres of land at the immediate corner of Conway and Ballas roads are not included in the purchase. Earnest money on the 222 acres was paid Feb. 12 by the Henry R. Weisels company, representing the club, with the agreement that the balance was to be paid by April 15. The price ranges from $900 to $1250 an acre.
Purchases and prices understood to have been paid follows: F. W.
Winke, 60 acres, $55,000; Mrs.
Sofia Klumstermeier, 40 acres, about $600 an acre; Fred C. Des-er, 12 acres, $40,000, or $1250 an acre, facing Conway road; Frank Thiemann, 40 acres, about $800 to $900 an acre; Mrs. Julia Soller, 50 acres, $42,000. All but Winke, who lives on Denny road, near Clayton road, reside on the property.

A section for residences of club members is proposed to be created, probably on the land being bought from Mrs. Soller, on the Ballas road side. The location is about eight miles from the city limits, between Clayton and Olive Street roads and two and one-half miles west of the St. Louis Country Club.

NEW STEEL PROCESS REPORTED Fifty Times More Durable Than Present Product It Is Said.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 25.—Perfection of a new steel, from 10 to 20 times as durable as the ordinary product, is announced by the Cru-cible Steel Co. of America.
A. T. Galbraith, vice president of the company, said the new steel was first made in the laboratories of the Crucible company many years ago. Difficulty in procuring satisfactory alloys made it impossible to manufacture the steel in its present form at reasonable prices.
This handicap, he said, has now been overcome. Galbraith declined to reveal details of the process by which the new steel is produced.

What This Means to You and Your Home

(1) By direct reception or through local broadcasting stations you can bring in the marvelous concerts that are broadcast regularly every week. Everyone loves music, and here is the finest—the very finest of music that you and your family can enjoy almost every night.

(2) And now is the time to enjoy it, for March has proven itself to be the most favorable month for broadcasting. And because of the organized system of linking up these New York concerts with local stations, Radio reception is as favorable during Summer months as it is during Winter months.

(3) Furthermore, the Radio has become a fixed institution in the educational systems of the nation. The schools have installed Radios. On Washington's birthday, 6000 St. Louis Boy Scouts heard President Coolidge's speech at the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Can your children afford to miss such things as this?

(4) Baseball season is coming and you will want to get the play-by-play returns. If you are a bridge devotee you will profit by the action bridge program every Tuesday. And there are dozens of other interesting features which the lack of space prevents us mentioning.

Deferred Payments $13.00 a Month

YOUTH IS BEWILDERED, PSYCHOLOGIST THINKS
Youngsters Would Give Up Modern Liberty for Adult Who Understands.

Precisely what is in the mind of youth was told at the opening session of the National Association of Secondary-School Principals last night at Roosevelt High School in New York, psychologist, philosopher and writer.

Dr. Hart's conclusions are based on solid research—not as another student of youth, recently in St. Louis, declared most such pronouncements were based on plain guesswork.

From separate studies with co-operating results, by himself in Denmark and another expert in California, he listed the engrossing interests of youth. He cited the value of living. He cited recent student suicides, and gave two possible causes: Adults failed (1) to make life seem worth living, and (2) to give either a considerable or a convincing answer to youth's burning question, "Is the rest of life worth the trouble I shall stop right here?"

There Ought to Be a Law.

"Some of us, probably, would like to pass a constitutional amendment to prevent people in the high school years, 14 to 18, from having any emotions at all," remarked Dr. Hart, who is associate editor of "The Survey." "Our real consideration is how those people translate their emotions into patterns of habit and conduct as they pass on toward the years of 19 and 20 and 30, in the transition from the years of emotion to the years of intelligence."

"The Danes believe that the whole future civilization depends upon the decisions young people make in those years. It is then that the final patterns of life begin to form themselves."

"Youth in those years is profoundly interested in work. I do not mean that he necessarily does work. He is interested in determining what he shall do, whether it is advisable to work or whether the community would consider him a fool if he worked and admire him if he found some means for getting along without working."

Possibly a Deeper Reaction.

"What sometimes seems to be the ridiculous self-destructiveness of young people may really be their reaction to something deeper than themselves, beyond their volition and outside their consciousness."

"We complain of youth in automobiles and roadhouses. Youth never made them. We adults have given youth these things and challenged youth to use them. They have accepted our challenge and therein are in a measure destroying themselves, but they hate it."

"The automobile has given youth one thing: the opportunity to get clear away from the community and from the supervision of the adult. The big question is, 'Will the adult ever get him back?' The adult will never get him back merely to dominate him. But he would give all that liberty for one adult who could remember the stresses and bewilderment of his own youth, who could understand him and give him some credible and workable information about how to live."

Third of youth's questions is what part of civic responsibility he should accept. The fourth is "What is the value of living?"

Student suicides. "In today's papers you can see evidence of the importance of this question—the seventeenth or the eighteenth, or the nineteenth century suicide. Parents and the community have not been able to give very satisfactory answers to that question."

"Youth asks, 'Why this leader of humanity? Why not a little more justice in life? Why must the spiritual energies within us be have access to a world of spiritual and intellectual adventures?'"

"A good many of the answers have indicated that life is not worth living. 'Life is dull, mean, mercenary; be dull, mercenary and obedient and in 50 years you may live on a competence.'"

"There are the things youth would like to find answers to. They do not always find the answers. Not even are their questions always hospitably received. 'Run along to your lessons,' they are told. But these ARE the lessons. These lessons are life itself."

"Only if we can escape from our catchwords about youth, our own misunderstandings, and be there in the stock that is flesh and bone as well as in organic form, and let them play over at against each other endlessly, high ideas, can we achieve the high aim of this civilization, a government of the people, by the people and for the people."

Music was provided by Walter Damrosch and the Homer Club, but not together. The club sang. Later Damrosch and his orchestra, played the symphony orchestra of the New York Symphony Orchestra, played the symphony orchestra of Haydn's symphony, Beethoven's Eighth and Ninth and Wagner's "Meistersinger."

YOUTH IS BEWILDERED, PSYCHOLOGIST THINKS

Youngsters Would Give Up
Modern Liberty for Adult Who Understands.

precisely what is in the mind of youth was told at the opening session of the National Association of Secondary-School Principals last week at Roosevelt High School in St. Louis, by Joseph K. Hart, of New York, psychologist, philosopher and writer.

Hart's conclusions are based on solid research—not, as another student of youth, recently in St. Louis, declared most such pronouncements were based, on plain common sense.

From separate studies with cooperating results, by himself in California, and another expert in California, he listed the engrossing interests of youth. One was the value of living. He cited recent student suicides, and gave possible causes. Adults tried (1) to make life seem worth living, and (2) to give either a considerate or a convincing answer to youth's burning question, "Is the rest of life worth the trouble, or shall I stop right here?"

There ought to be a law,
Hart said, "Some of us, probably, would like to pass a constitutional amendment to prevent people in the high school years, 14 to 18, from having any emotions at all," remarked Dr.
Hart, who is associate editor of "The Survey." "Our real consideration is how those people translate their emotions into patterns of conduct as they pass on ward the years of 19 and 20 and in the transition from the years of emotion to the years of intelligence."

"The Dunes believe that the whole future civilization depends on the decisions young people make in those years. It is then that the final patterns of life begin to form themselves."

"Youth in those years is probably interested in work. I do not mean that he necessarily does work. He is interested in determining what he shall do, whether it is advisable to work or whether the community would consider him idiot if he worked and admire him if he found some means for getting along without working."

Posibly a Deeper Reaction.
What sometimes seems to be the serious self-destructiveness of young people may really be their reaction to something deeper than themselves, beyond their volition and outside their consciousness.

"We complain of youth in automobiles and roadhouses. Youth never made them. We adults have given youth these things and challenged youth to use them. They have accepted our challenge and therein are in a measure destroying themselves, but they hate it."

"The automobile has given youth one thing: the opportunity to get out away from the community and from the supervision of the adult. The big question is, 'Will the adult ever get him back?' The adult will never get him back merely to dominate him. But he would like all that liberty for one adult who could remember the stresses and bewilderment of his own youth, who could understand him and give him some credible and workable information about how to live."

Third of youth's questions is what part of civic responsibility he should accept. The fourth is,
"What is the value of living?"

In today's papers you can see evidence of the importance of this question—the seventeenth, eighteenth, or the nineteenth century suicide. Parents and the community have not been able to give very satisfactory answers to that question.

"Youth asks, 'Why this deadening monotony? Why not a little individuality in life?' Why must the difficult energies within us not have access to a world of spiritual, moral and intellectual adventure-ness?"

A good many of the answers have indicated that life is not worth living. "Life is dull, mean, mercenary, be dull, mercenary and obedient and in 50 years you may return on a competence."

These are the things youth would like to find answers for.
They do not always find the answers. Not even are their questions always hospitably received. "Run about your lessons," they are told.
But these ARE the lessons. These lessons are life itself.

"Only if we can escape from our own catchwords about youth, our own misunderstandings, and become in the stock that is flesh of our flesh as well as in organizations, and let them play over and against each other endlessly on both sides, can we achieve the high aim of this civilization, a government of the people, by the people and for us all."

Hart was provided by Walter Hartman, and the Homer Hall Club, but not together. The club sang. Later Damrosch, who is director of the New York Symphony Orchestra, played on the measures of Haydn's Surprise Symphony, Beethoven's Eighth and Wagner's "Meistersing-er."

WIFE SEEKS FORMER SOLDIER WHO DISAPPEARED FEB. 15

Search is being made for Raymond G. Wentz, former soldier, who disappeared from his home, 2150 Oak avenue, Wellston, Feb. 15. He had been ill for several days and retired at 8:30 p. m. His wife said he had worried because of his inability to obtain employment for three months.

Wentz became ill while at Camp Shelby in October 1918, and a physician there diagnosed his case as dementia praecox. It is feared that he may now be suffering from a lapse of memory. He weighs about 175 pounds, is five feet nine inches tall and is of light complexion. He was wearing dark clothing when he disappeared.

YOUTH BEWILDERED, VIEW PSYCHOLOGIST GIVES OF YOUNGSTERS

The convention, the eleventh annual, continued today with sessions of the senior high school section at Hotel Statler and of the junior high school section at Hotel Missouri. Another general meeting will be held tonight at Roosevelt High School, and the final session tomorrow morning at the Statler.

MORALS OF YOUTH AS SOUND AS EVER, CARDINAL DECLARES
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Cardinal Hayes deplores obscenity on the stage, in night clubs, and in literature, and also immodesty in dress. He gave his views to Louis Seibold of the New York Evening Post.

"It is sometimes alarming to realize that after all the money spent for education to reach higher moral standards the so-called liberal freedom now acclaimed by many persons has resulted in the lowering of them," the Cardinal said. "Vulgar plays, obscene literature and immodesty in the dress affected by many young women are instances that come to mind. Basically the young men and women of today are just as sound morally as they were a century ago, but some of them have been led away by appeals to vanity to venture beyond the confines of harmless frivolity."

While official censorship of the stage may have become a necessity, he declared, "our moral sense, the laws of decency and good taste" should suffice to correct conditions without recourse to police power. "I believe that public opinion is the greatest corrective in civilization when backed by a truly Christian spirit, but public opinion is sometimes slow in making itself felt and its mission necessitates organized effort backed by official authority."

Why You Should Bathe INTERNALLY
If you are a person of settled habits and indoor occupation your system is absorbing more poisons than it can throw off.
These poisons come from the intestinal tract. They are bred by digestive waste too long retained. As germs, they seep into your blood stream and naturally undermine your weakest organs.
The presence of these poisons explains why you take cold easily, get headaches, have a pale, sallow complexion, no pep and a cloudy, non-productive brain. Worse, they are a generic cause of high blood pressure, hardened arteries and stomach, liver and heart disorders. In fact, the great Prof. Fages of Vienna, a pre-eminent medical authority, says "ninety-five per cent of all disease originates in the intestinal tract."
Get Health, and Keep It, This Sane, Simple Way
To be free of these undermining poisons is comparatively simple. You wash them away by Internal Bathing with the J. B. L. Cascade. Just pure, warm water and a marvelous cleansing tonic administered to the intestinal tract by the J. B. L. Cascade do the trick. No pain. No discomfort. A great specialist's idea, this sane and sensible method has brought new energy, new health, new beauty and new mental alertness to fading thousands. Not an enema, mind you—because the enema cleanses but a third of the intestinal tract. The Cascade flushes the entire organ of all impurities, all poisons.

These Immediate Benefits Await You
Taken just before retiring, Internal Bathing with the J. B. L. Cascade will effect a marvelous change. You will feel your tired, depressed nerves relax. You will sleep like a child. In the morning you will know what real "pep" is. Your brain power, too, will seem at razor-edge. And your strengthened, purified system will laugh at the futile attacks of colds, always dangerous at this time of the year.

DEPUTY IS ARRESTED AS PASTOR'S ASSAILANT

The Rev. C. C. Crawford Identifies Deputy Constable, Who Denies Charge.

John Dougherty, a Deputy Constable of St. Ferdinand Township, St. Louis County, was identified yesterday by the Rev. C. C. Crawford, pastor of the Fourth Christian Church and former Ku Klux Klan lecturer, as one of the two men who beat him in front of 2041 East Grand avenue early on Feb. 17.

Dougherty, who lives at 170 Ferguson avenue, St. Louis County, was arrested at O'bear and West Florissant avenues, near the Rev. Mr. Crawford's home at 4408 West Florissant avenue. Although the pastor was positive in identification, Dougherty denied he had ever seen him before and furnished a bond. A warrant charging assault will be sought against him.

The pastor, after he was beaten, said he recognized one of the men as the one he identified as Dougherty—as a man who picked a quarrel with him over his Ku Klux Klan affiliations last summer and invited him to fight.

WOMAN'S SUIT FOR $15,000 SETTLED IN COURT FOR $1.90

Mrs. Elizabeth Juergens Alleged Bakery Firm Was Responsible for Accident.

A suit by Mrs. Elizabeth Juergens, 729 Shenandoah avenue, in which she asked $15,000 from the J. Hahn Bakery Co. for injuries alleged to have been suffered on Jan. 19, 1922, when she stumbled over a tongue of one of the company's wagons, was settled yesterday in Circuit Judge Rosskopf's court for $1.90.

At the close of plaintiff's case, in which the testimony indicated that her nervous condition and other injuries might have resulted from two other accidents, her attorney, Jesse Friday, asked Thomas J. Coyle, attorney for the company, what he would pay in settlement. "Not a cent over $1.90," replied Coyle.

Friday conferred with his client, and then told Coyle that if the offer was serious, that amount would be accepted. Coyle handed over two $1 bills to Friday, who returned 10 cents in change. The company agreed to pay the court costs.

Beauty Doctor Gives Fine Recipe for the Hands

Many women will undoubtedly be glad to know how they may have beautiful, white, soft, pretty hands regardless of the work they have to do. The secret lies in rubbing a little Ice-Mint into the hands occasionally, preferably just before retiring at night. In the morning you will be agreeably surprised at the pleasant transformation that has been wrought by even a single application. Ice-Mint is made from a Japanese product that is simply marvelous for its beautifying properties whether used on the hands or face. Regardless of what kind of work a woman does she should have pretty hands as they are really the true mark of refinement. A few applications of Ice-Mint will actually make any woman proud of her hands and skin. It costs little and is sold and recommended by good druggists everywhere.

This recipe is worth keeping.

HOSPITAL MANAGER'S REMOVAL REQUESTED

Alton Delegation Asks Gov. Small to Oust Illingsworth From State Asylum.

Removal of Dr. J. H. Illingsworth as managing officer of the Alton State Hospital, an institution caring for more than 1100 insane persons, was requested of Gov. Small yesterday by a delegation of 25 Alton business men, who called upon the Governor at Springfield. Gov. Small took the request under advisement.

The delegation charged that Dr. Illingsworth removed several nurses and other hospital employees without cause, maintained an armed guard as a protection for himself and made unnecessary expenditures of State funds in connection with operation of the institution.

One of the charges of extravagance was that a beauty parlor established recently at the hospital for inmates was used principally by employees at the State's expense. The reasons for maintenance of the armed guard were not explained.

Appearing with the party before Gov. Small were State Senator Norman G. Flagg of Monro and Representative S. R. Vaughn of Greenville, whose districts include Madison County.

Dr. Illingsworth made categorical denial of the charges to a Post-Dispatch reporter today and said animosity toward him was engendered because of his dismissal of a painter for insubordination. He has been at the Alton hospital since last spring, having been transferred there from the Watertown State Hospital, another institution for insane persons, where he had been managing officer for more than four years.

LINEMAN KILLED BY FALL

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

Once a School Teacher—

Later a Famous Physician

A young man who was brought up on a farm in Western Pennsylvania qualified for district school teacher. Further pursuing his studies and teaching, he managed to save enough money to put him thru medical college. He began the practice of medicine in the new oil section of Pennsylvania, and often rode horse back through the woods to reach and have there were seriously ill. He was a student of nature, knew and easily recognized most of the medicinal plants growing in the woods.

Finally he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., where he launched his favorite remedies, and, in a short time, they were sold by every druggist in the land. Today the name of this man, the late Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known general tonic for building up strength, restoring impaired tissues and enriching the blood. More than fifty million bottles have been sold in the U. S. If your druggist does not sell it, in liquid or tablet form, you can obtain a trial pkg. of the tablets by sending 10c to the Dr. Pierce Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y.

Custom-Built Motor Cars Ranging in Price From $6000 to $18,200 Are Things of Beauty.

21,703 THURSDAYS
ATTENDANCE MARK

Two Days Left for Inspection of Best Display St.
Louis Distributors Have Ever Offered.

The most beautiful and expensive custom built motor cars ever gathered in St. Louis may be seen today and tomorrow on the second floor of the automobile show where Cadillac, Lincoln, Packard, Pierce-Arrow and Rolls-Royce—names to conjure within American motordom—have set their finest out displays.

In each of these exhibits are cars executed by famous American coach builders or built by the factories after designs by notables for the New York salon. On this floor are a number of automobiles ranging in price from $4000 to $18,000, whose lines, general appearance and interior and exterior finish make them worthy rivals of the best work of European carmakers on Rolls-Royce, Isotta Fraschini, Renault, Mercedes and Minerva chassis.

Among these more costly custom cars at the local show, two Cadillac stand out. One is a cabriolet five-passenger sedan finished in light and dark Bernese beige with Laidlaw cloth roof top and rear quarter in landau effect. It has wire wheels, a spare being carried in a front fender well on either side, and two trunk racks, one folding.

Special Sport Phaeton.

Another beautiful Cadillac is one that has held the center of the stage at every automobile show this year. It is a special custom sport phaeton with collapsible French victoria top over the rear seat, double cowl and two windshields. This car is done entirely in ebony save for silver steel monogram side panel. Wood running board in natural finish, tan leather upholstery, and an extension hunting searchlight mounted on the right running board, are notable details. Also in the Damascened steel panel under the cowl on which the unique Cadillac instrument panel is set.

A Dietrich sport phaeton is one of the period Lincolns which caused a furore at the New York show, and is a splendid example of the rich effects that can be produced by a coach builder who can be discretely daring. The car is done in two-tone green, with orange striping, wire wheels in orange, orange leather piping and bronze leather upholstery, with large orange buttons. It has a khaki victoria top over the rear seat, an orange wire wheel in a fender well on each front fender, and two windshields. The front windshield slants and is "V"-shaped with rolling rounded top. It is striking, yet distinguished car.

Another period custom Lincoln is an all-weather convertible cabriolet by Le Baron. Its interior is in Antoinette blue, with striping in Gascogne vermillion, with needle-point medallions in Louis XVI style. Woven broadcloth upholstery and broad lace trimming. The medallion effect is carried out on the hardware.

Honey Bee Broadcloth. A Lincoln cabriolet sedan of Empire period design has a body by Holbrook. The special broadcloth interior is in the honey bee pattern. The exterior is in Bonaparte beige with striping in Versailles violet.

A notable Packard eight has a four-passenger sedan body by Dietrich, done in Rolls-Royce blue, with black disc wheels trimmed in blue, aluminum striping and black head arm molding. Roof, top and rear quarter are in tan leather, as is the trunk in the rear, while the upholstery is in special striped effect to harmonize.

Another Dietrich body on a Packard eight chassis is a convertible coupe. This is in soft gray, with blue striping, disc wheels and gray cloth top. A long, lithe greenhood of the open type. A Packard six coupe is really done in four colors. Its upper body is in Falcon buff, its lower body in woodcock brown, its top in jet black, and its head, wheels and louvers in orange. The window reveals are in Falcon buff. A vivid car yet in notably good taste and style.

All the old-time distinction of Pierce-Arrow, with a new note of beauty, is in the enclosed Artimousine on the Series 36 chassis introduced a short time ago. The body is in palmetto green, the top and headlining in scarab green. Striping is in orange and the hood louvers are in the same vivid color. Yet this touch of the flaming bird accentuates the general effect of rich dignity. The windshield is slanting, fitting with a dual cleaner, and the exterior finish is in that nitro-cellulose that withstands even salt air. The driver's seat is

In black, hand-buffed leather. The rear compartment upholstery is in broadcloth. Fittings are in gold. A truly luxurious car.

Two-Tone Blue Dream. A dream in suit two-tone blue is a sedan on the smaller Series "44" Pierce-Arrow chassis.

The most costly car in the show is the Rolls-Royce "Stratford," a collapsible coupe. Here is a sports model with rumble seat finished as the car. This body is by Brewster, richly styled and done in deep beige on the upper part and in Malaya brown on the lower body with Derby red striping and red wire wheels, the two spare wheels being carried in front fender wells and gray cloth top. Rich simplicity is achieved without any evident straining after an effect.

Another costly Rolls-Royce is a "Berkley"—a 7-passenger sedan in Rolls-Royce blue with black top, black wheels and silver stripes. Here again is the same note of restrained luxury, the same good form achieved in truly British classic fashion.

One of the most massive appearing cars in the show is a town car on the large Locomobile six chassis. Done all in black, custom-tailored with an effect of substantial dignity, this expensive model produces the desired impression of severely rich simplicity.

Massive Town Car.

Massive also is a special town car by Kimball on what a European carmaker would term the "big" Buick chassis. With its rich subdued color scheme, its old-fashioned brougham type lamps on either side of the owner's compartment, this car proves, if proof was needed, that the Buick lends itself to the working out of any custom design.

Another striking custom car is a Dietrich sedan on the Hupah chassis. It is finished in two tones of blue, with a refreshingly new treatment of the rear quarter. For breath of the year running gear are in deep sand color, while the wire wheels are blue. Altogether, this proves, as does the big Buick to the fact that custom bodied cars no longer be restricted to two or three makes of automobile.

Custom designs on the eight, the big Marmon, the Stutz, the Chrysler "88" and the Buick are an illustration of the effect on American motor car design. The Stutz eight's debut at the New York show a year ago was without the influence of the "Sportif" "88" sport car, known as the "Sportif" caused a mirroring comment at all the shows this year.

Incense Flares Exhibited. An actual flaring of incense at the show visitors is of license plates for 1927 of all the states and territories, loaned by the Secretary of State.

Yesterday's attendance at the show was 31,747.

Among show visitors were F. Chandler, president, and S. B. Yee, president of the Cleveland Motors Corporation. Cleveland, both said they expected a good automobile selling year, premising a belief that the automobile shows had materially aided in stimulating demand for cars.

Copeland, found guilty of robbing Hogue of $9 and a crucifix on Dec. 1 in East St. Louis. The men were sentenced to indeterminate terms from three to 25 years in the penitentiary at Chester.

Ends Life with Poison.

Joseph Bombardier, 46 years old, 3227 Minnesota avenue, 46 City Hospital last night from a fall taken in a glass of water at home at 7:30 p. m. His wife found him a white powder in a glass of water and drank it before he died.

HIGH-PRICED AUTOS
AT SHOW MARVELS OF MAKERS' ART

In black, hand-buffed leather. The rear compartment upholstery is in black and gold. Fittings are in gold. A truly luxurious car.

Two-Tone Blue Dream.
A dream in soft two-tone blue is a sedan on the smaller Series "80" frame-Arrow chassis.

The most costly car in the show is the Rolls-Royce "Stratford," a collapsible coupe. Here is a sports model with rumble seat finished as a rumble seat should be in an $18,000 car. This body is by Brewster, styled and done in deep sage on the upper part and in glauca brown on the lower body. Derby red striping and red wheels the two spare wheels being carried in front fender wells, and gray cloth top. Rich simplicity is achieved without any evident straining after an effect.

Another costly Rolls-Royce is a "Berwick"—a 7-passenger sedan in dark blue with black top, black wheels and silver stripes. Here again is the same note of restrained luxury, the same good form achieved in truly British casual simplicity.

One of the most massive appearing cars in the show is a town car on the large Locomobile six chassis. Done all in black, custom-tailored, with an effect of substantial dignity, evidently the ruling motive, this expensive model produces the desired impression of severely rich simplicity.

Massive Town Car.
Massive also is a special town car by Kimball on what a European "barouche" would term the "long Buick chassis." With its richly lined brougham type lamps on either side of the owner's compartment, this car proves, if proof were needed, that the Buick lends itself to the working out of any custom design.

Another striking custom car is a Dietrich sedan on the Hup eight chassis. It is finished in two tones of blue, with a refreshingly novel treatment of the rear quarter. Fenders and running gear are in desert sand color, while the wire wheels are blue. Altogether, this Hup proves, as does the big Buick town car, that costly custom bodies need no longer be restricted to two or three makes of automobile.

Custom designs on the Stutz eight, the big Marmon, the Studebaker and the Chrysler "80" chassis are an illustration of the same fact. Such models on the Stutz chassis have exerted a considerable effect on American motor car design since the Stutz eight's debut at the New York show a year ago. Nor have the big Chrysler models been without their influence. The "Sportif" "80" sport touring known as the "Sportif" caused admiring comment at all the shows this year.

License Plates Exhibited.
An exhibit that attracts many show visitors is of license plates for 1927 of all the states and territories, loaned by the Secretary of State.

Yesterday's attendance at the show was 21,703.
Among show visitors were F. C. Chandler, president, and S. H. Black, president, of the Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation of Cleveland. Both said they expected a good automobile selling year, expressing a belief that the automobile show had materially assisted in stimulating demand for cars.

SMOKE ABATEMENT FUND
WORKERS ARE APPOINTED

Mrs. James McCune to Head Women; H. M. Bixby Will Direct Men.

Districts have been arranged for the division of men and of women who soon will begin to solicit $250,000 for a three-year fund for the Citizens' Smoke Abatement League. The women, under Mrs. James McCune, general chairman, will work west of Grand boulevard and the men, with Harold M. Bixby as chairman, will take the eastern part of the city.

THREE ROBBERS FOUND GUILTY
East St. Louis Holdup Men Given Prison Sentences.

Two men were found guilty by a jury and a third entered a plea of guilty of robbery in the St. Clair County Circuit Court yesterday. Charles Brown pleaded guilty of robbing William Schweitzer of a watch and $2.50 in money in East St. Louis Dec. 1, and Thomas Shirley and W. L. Cleveland were found guilty of robbing Homer Ferguson of $9 and a crucifix on Nov. 25 in East St. Louis. The three were sentenced to indeterminate terms of from three to 20 years in the penitentiary at Chester.

Ends Life with Poison.

Joseph Sombathy, 66 years old, 3223 Minnesota avenue, died at City Hospital last night from poison taken in a glass of water at his home at 7:30 p. m. His wife said he mixed a white powder in a glass of water and drank it before she could interfere.

FUMES KILL TWO IN HOTEL, MANAGER ENDS HIS LIFE

Body of Chicagoan Found Several Hours After Woman and Boy Die
From Fumigation Gas.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Mrs. Nettie Reneau, 43 years old, and her 18-month-old baby were found dead in their suite in an apartment hotel on the North Side today. Death apparently was caused by fumes from a fumigating material. Shortly afterward the body of John Rich, manager of the hotel, was found on a coal pile in the boiler room, evidently a suicide in remorse.

Rich retired to his room after he was told of the two deaths and was not seen again until hotel employees found his pajama-clad body in the basement with a pistol at his side. Liquid cyanide of potassium had been used to fumigate an empty apartment yesterday, but so thick were the fumes when police were called that they had difficulty in reaching the body of Mrs. Reneau. The bodies were found by the husband, Howard Reneau, manager of a branch telegraph office, when he returned home shortly after midnight.

No other guests were affected by the fumes, although some said they previously had been made slightly ill, and had objected to use of the fumigating agent.

Rich, who was 40 years of age, slipped down to the boiler room without connecting to his wife and two adopted children. He managed the hotel in the Rogers Park neighborhood, for State Senator James J. Harboure, the owner.

Reneau's mother, Mrs. Alice Reneau, lives near St. Charles, Mo., having moved there from Clarksville, Mo., a few years ago.

GUEST OF HONOR

THOMAS CRANE YOUNG.

ST. LOUIS ARCHITECTS TO HONOR T. C. YOUNG

Noted Building Designer to Be Guest at Dinner at University Club.

A testimonial dinner for Thomas Crane Young will be given at the University Club tonight by the St. Louis chapter of the American Institute of Architects in recognition of the large number and varied character of buildings which he has designed or collaborated in designing.

L. B. Pendleton, president of the chapter, will preside, and William B. Eimer will be toastmaster. Guy Study will give a review of the extent of Young's work, and others who will talk will be Charles Nagel, Prof. F. W. Mann of the University of Minnesota department of architecture, Dr. Arthur E. Roelck of the Public Library, Paul Brown, editor of the Executive's Magazine, and Mayor Miller.

Young is now head of the firm of Eames & Young, in the Arcade Building, formed in 1888, in which the late William S. Eames was his partner. Many St. Louis residences were designed by the firm, including those of W. N. McMillan, Sir William Northrup, McMillan, R. McKittrick Jones, George L. Allen, William H. Thompson, Robert S. Brookings, David R. Francis, J. C. Chapman, William L. Huse, C. A. Scudder and William H. Lee.

Designed Cupples Station. About 1889 Brookings conceived the idea of building warehouses beside railroad tracks to eliminate hauling. Eames & Young designed for him the Cupples Station group, now owned by Washington University, and busy with industry. Massiveness and practicality, with simple lines, characterize the structures, which comprised the most important group of commercial buildings in the country when erected.

The Federal penitentiaries at Leavenworth, Kansas, and Atlanta, Ga., were designed by Eames & Young, by appointment in 1899. The architects departed from the ordinary prison style and planned the stone and steel in monumental fashion, with main cell buildings 600 feet long and towering 70 feet high. Reproduction cost of these prisons at present prices would be about $18,000,000.

In 1904 the firm won a competition for planning the San Francisco custom house. As members of the board of architects of the World's Fair here that year, they designed the Education Building. Previously they designed the Fine Arts Building for the Omaha Exposition in 1898. They won a competition for the Galveston, Tex., public library.

York Rite Masonic Temple. The latest example of Young's work here is the York Rite Masonic Temple, on Lindell boulevard, near Spring avenue, which is notable because of its unusual and bold, striking appearance. Among other structures conceived by Young, or the firm, are the following in St. Louis: Title Guaranty, International Life, Wright (part of Arcade), Fresno, Victoria, Third National Bank (now Liberty Central), Boatmen's Bank and University Club buildings, Ely & Walker Dry Goods Co. and Ferguson-McKinney Manufacturing Co. In Salt Lake City, Utah, there is the Walker Bank Building; in Seattle, Wash., the New Washington Hotel and the Alaska Building; and in St. Joseph, Mo., the Corby Building, Robidoux Hotel and Tootle-Cannell mercantile building.

Cass Gilbert, as noted architect, wrote of Eames & Young: "Their residential work is always especially interesting. A strong personal quality sometimes picturesque, sometimes quiet and serious, but always vital and interesting. Their monumental work is distinguished by scholarly and notable ranking among the very best of our time."

Young was born in Wisconsin and was graduated from high school in Grand Rapids, Mich., in 1878, after which he studied at Washington University, St. Louis; the University of Heidelberg, Germany; and the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris. His first position afterwards was with a firm of Boston architects.

AUTO PARTS THEFT PLOT BARED

Eight Men Said to Have Stolen $100,000 From Ford Plant. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 25.—An alleged plot to steal huge quantities of automobile parts from the Ford Motor Co. assembling plant here has resulted in the arrest of eight men, several of them employees of the concern.

Police declare the losses may run as high as $100,000. Russell Boyle, Assistant Prosecutor, asserted that by means of false entries it had been possible for the men to steal parts in wholesale lots, for distribution and sale by outside friends.

AFTER PERIOD OF TORTURE, MAN FINDS RELIEF FROM ITCHING

Skin now entirely healed

Charlestown (Boston), Mass., Dec. 18.—"Last June I had an itching irritation on my back, principally between the shoulders, and also on the back of my hands, extending to the shoulders. The skin was apparently clear of any disorder, but the itching was intense. After a vigorous rubbing with a Turkish towel there would appear two spots, about an inch apart, which bled from the effects of the rubbing. I used Bay Rum and other lotions before I tried your Resinol Ointment. At bedtime my back received a thorough washing with Resinol Soap and a very generous application of Ointment, after which I would rest quite comfortably until about two or three in the morning, when I received another application. A third or fourth would be enough to make me feel at ease during the day. Thanks to the above treatment, the trouble is now entirely healed." (Signed) John W. Matthews, 1 Crystal Place.

How I Beat Nervous Ailments and "Came Back"

"No one knows better than I the horror of sleepless days and sleepless nights. There have been times when I felt hopeless and helpless—when I seemed almost unbearable. My ailments frequently caused me the most intense discomfort. Only one who has gone through such tortures can possibly realize my delight when the use of ARJUM brought me complete ease and relief and restored full, mental strength. Such amazing testimony of physicians and users gives convincing proof of the power of ARJUM to help bring back health and strength to the sick and afflicted. Overworked, sluggish, nervous and blood derangements may bring on so many distressing ailments which often lead to serious and perhaps fatal diseases that every sufferer from nerve back, rheumatism, twinges, stiffness, pains in the head, stomach, disturbed rest should start at once to get into the system the marvelous restorative ARJUM power supplied by ARJUM. This produces a vitalizing internal curative, holding in reserve proper normal action just as nature intended. At the same time, it cleanses the system of all poisons, and you should see and feel a truly startling improvement in yourself each day."

NOTE: The Associated Radiant Chemicals, Inc. of New York, which supplies drugists with ARJUM, guarantees successful and satisfactory results in every case from its progressive use or money refunded, and also that a definite quantity of genuine ARJUM is used in its preparation. ARJUM is very good and economical to take, and may now be readily obtained in this city from the Ecole des Beaux Arts, Paris. His first position afterwards was with a firm of Boston architects.

SMALLER NAVAL AMMUNITION
DEPOTS TO PREVENT EXPLOSIONS

Storage House Capacity Will Be Reduced From 1,000,000 to 143,000 Pounds.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Discovery of a way to prevent explosions, such as that which wrecked the ammunition depot at Lake Denmark, N. J., is claimed by the navy.

By reducing the size of storage houses to a capacity of only 143,- 000 pounds, building them of reinforced concrete and partly submerging them, and placing them 500 feet apart, an explosion in one would be rendered ineffective as far as neighboring storage houses are concerned, navy experts believe.

Rear-Admiral Gregory, chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, explained that a study of the Lake Denmark explosions showed that the depots there had been stored to a capacity as high as 1,000,000 pounds.

Measure Would Not

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—Following the message sent to the Senate by the House of Representatives today, the Senate will consider the bill to amend the act of March 3, 1907, known as the "McNary bill," which provides for the payment of bounties on the production of certain agricultural products.

"No one can deny that the price of agricultural products has fallen out of line with the general price level," said a spokesman of the Senate. "The conditions are such that the farmer is unable to obtain a just and secure place in our economy. The bill under consideration would remedy this situation by providing for the payment of bounties on the production of certain agricultural products."

The measure discriminates definitely against products which make up a large part of the total production of the country. It is a measure of protection to the farmer, and it is a measure of protection to the consumer. The bill provides for the payment of bounties on the production of certain agricultural products, and it is a measure of protection to the farmer, and it is a measure of protection to the consumer.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

Founded by JOSEPH PULITZER
December 12, 1878
Published by
The Pulitzer Publishing Company
Twelfth Boulevard and Olive Street

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress, for reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of the oppressed, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never back any man who is not a public benefactor, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be dispassionately independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

JOSEPH PULITZER.
April 10, 1907.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Traffic Congestion Problem.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
HIGHLY commending the Post-Dispatch editorial of Feb. 11, entitled "Wanted for St. Louis—a Transportation Plan" as being a big step in the right direction, I offer herewith a suggestion:

The real cause of the downtown congestion is the automobile. Eliminate the privately owned auto from the congested district. Let the city establish municipal garages of five or more stories with direct lift elevators at approximately the four corners of the congested district; let there be a charge, say, of 10c per hour for first two hours, 5c per hour thereafter—the garage to furnish free bus service into the business district. The autist will thus obtain parking space and safety from fire, theft, collision and weather conditions, the city obtains a new source of revenue. This would make it necessary for the city to own and operate the street railway system, which I believe must come sooner or later, anyway.

At the rush hour the downtown district is jammed with autos and street cars; by the municipal garage system, at least the autos will be outside of the congested district.

The New Milk Bill.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
RECENTLY noted an item in your paper in regard to Dr. Starkloff, Health Commissioner, having ready his new milk bill to submit to the Board of Aldermen.

It is to be hoped that this important bill will receive favorable attention from the Board of Aldermen, and that the enforcement of the same will be placed in the hands of experienced men.

After a survey of milk conditions here, a year or so ago, a bill was submitted for the protection of the public health in St. Louis, and in spite of the fact that this bill stated that the men who were to enforce it should have at least five years' practical experience, or two years' practical experience with agricultural college education, men were placed on this work who had no experience whatsoever.

Let us hope there will be no repetition of this. This important measure, if passed, should be placed in the hands of capable and efficient men who have had practical knowledge and who are thoroughly acquainted with milk producing industry.

Watch the Wheels Go Round.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
ONE of the reasons frequently given by the nonvoters for their failure to turn out at primaries and elections is that, owing to the multitude of candidates, it is impossible for them to become acquainted with them or to know their capacity for performing the functions of the offices they seek. There is considerable truth in this reason as stated, and I have frequently considered if there were any solution of the difficulty. A partial answer to this situation recently occurred to me upon the occasion of my attending (upon the urgent written invitation of a traffic officer) a session of City Court No. 2, presided over by Judge Beck. On this occasion the room was crowded with defendants in traffic cases. I was present for about five hours, and observed with great interest the efficiency with which this court was conducted. The Judge succeeded in maintaining order and quiet under great difficulties, and cases were disposed of very rapidly and with evident justice. The Judge dealt out even handed and impartial justice in every case, without fear or favor and regardless of whether the defendant were white or colored. It occurred to me then if more nonvoting citizens would take a little time off once in a while and visit their courtrooms and other places where public officials preside and see for themselves just how they function in their own surroundings, they might more easily know how to vote when these officials stand for re-election to the same or other office. Perhaps I should add that I have no personal acquaintance whatever with the Judge of City Court No. 2.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
ST. LOUIS horse lovers will rejoice that the Fire Department horses, displaced by motor power, will not be used to pull garbage wagons, but that most of them will be retired to the parks, to draw mowing machines, and the rest sent out to Bellefontaine Farms, where they can be utilized in the fields and gardens of the institution.

Some have sneered at the sentiment which caused a strong protest against using these horses as garbage haulers, after they had served the city in a calling that means so much in the way of adventure and the display of high spirit and intelligence. That sentiment is only natural and admirable. In their way, to the extent of their ability, the fire horses have done wonderful work, saving property and in some cases lives, and winning the lasting good will of all who have observed their activities. Now they will spend their remaining days in peaceful employment, on the green and the unpaved earth, among trees and flowers—a most desirable mode of pensioning such animals.

HORSE LOVER.

THE BRIDGE EXCHANGE ISSUE.

Glendy B. Arnold, counsel for the Citizens' Committee, in his opening address to the Public Utilities Committee of the Board of Aldermen, went to the heart of the question of the exchange of the Eads Bridge and the municipal bridge.

In substance, he concentrated the question upon the point, Is the exchange good business or bad business for the city? Is it a fair trade, advantageous or disadvantageous to the city, from all standpoints—from the money standpoint, from the standpoint of benefits to St. Louis business on account of the new facilities for handling terminal traffic?

This is the question to be decided by the Board of Aldermen and the people of St. Louis.

The real issue has been obscured by the clamor and misrepresentations of opponents of the transaction who have a special object in view or a special interest to serve.

The opposition of the Merchants Exchange is based upon a desire to have the so-called arbitrary or service charge between East St. Louis and St. Louis abolished.

They want to force this concession from the railroad, regardless of the fact that the question of service charge lies wholly in the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and is entirely separate from the merits or demerits of the transaction between the city and the railroads.

The other opposition is fostered by the Manufacturers' Railway, which is a small, independent terminal company, serving a part of the city, and which apparently wants to block the Terminal at every point and secure special advantages for itself on the municipal bridge.

All of the railway interests should have fair and impartial treatment in the use of the bridge, but beyond that the general interest of St. Louis from the standpoint of railroad traffic should be the controlling consideration in dealing with the proposed bridge ordinance.

Mr. Arnold answered fully the question as to the terminal monopoly of the Terminal Association. It serves all the railroads that enter St. Louis on a basis of equality, and handles the bulk of all railroad traffic in St. Louis. But in the sense that it has any monopolistic privilege or can shut out or discriminate against any railroad desiring to use its facilities, it is not a monopoly. It is the union terminals of railroads entering St. Louis, and its bridges and facilities are open to the use of any railroad upon the same terms accorded to proprietary lines.

The only possibility of monopoly which appeared in the original ordinance was the charge that independent terminals could be discriminated against in the use of the municipal bridge under the Terminal Association's control. That was one of the main points for which the Post-Dispatch made a fight. We not only obtained from the railroads an amendment incorporating the U. S. Supreme Court mandate, but from President Henry Miller of the Terminal Association an interpretation of that clause, in which he pledged the roads to levy only a pro rata charge for the use of either the bridge alone, or for any facility of the Terminal Association.

This amendment and interpretation was at first accepted by President Cotter of the Manufacturers' Railway, but afterwards rejected, with demands for amendments that would have completely changed the transaction.

Mr. Arnold advised the Public Utilities Committee to investigate the transaction thoroughly; have the Eads Bridge examined by competent engineers; study the leases; what the Terminal Association would pay for the use of the municipal bridge; investigate the value and cost to the city of maintaining the municipal bridge, and with thorough information with regard to the benefits of the exchange, decide whether the city should adopt the ordinance.

This is a fair proposal. The benefits, however, are not to be considered only from the standpoint of the cash and costs involved, but from the standpoint also of the benefits to accrue to St. Louis business from increased bridge and terminal facilities and the more economical handling of terminal traffic, which would inevitably result in reduced charges.

By reason of the function of the Terminal Association as the union of terminals of all the railroads entering St. Louis, all benefits of increased facilities which permit of more rapid and economical service would benefit St. Louis business.

It has been urged that the Terminal Association needs the municipal bridge to handle its traffic. Whatever the Terminal Association needs in the matter of increased facilities St. Louis business needs. The greater the needs of the union terminals of the railroads for increased bridge and terminal facilities, the greater the needs of St. Louis traffic. Both the railroads and St. Louis suffer from inadequate railroad facilities and terminal congestion.

The original purpose of the movement for the exchange of bridges was to provide increased terminal and bridge facilities for the benefit of St. Louis, on fair terms to the railroads. Surely no one doubts that the immediate use of the vehicle deck of the Eads Bridge free of tolls by the city would be a tremendous advantage. The control of the tunnel by the city is contemplated in the rapid transit plans of the Rapid Transit Committee of the Board of Aldermen. No one doubts that the increase of terminal facilities is imperative for the expansion of St. Louis business.

The big question, therefore, to be decided by the Board of Aldermen is, Does the proposed ordinance in its amended form contribute to these terminal necessities, upon fair terms to all concerned? This ought to be determined without appeals to old hostilities and prejudices.

BACK TO SCHOPENHAUER.

There is no primrose path to fortune. We thought moonshining must be one. The promise of spring about a moonshining plant enthralled us. Deep in the leafing wood, where the robin lifts its first inspirational notes and the cry of the wild goose is heard on the river—

But we are awake from that dream. A moonshiner's daybook shows he was out various sums such as "Sheriff $150," "police $100," and twice "Jack $100." So that while the moonshiner toils in the woody dells, he is far from giving himself over to the blandishments of nature. His thoughts are too full of the well-known weakness of human nature to observe what miracle spring is happily performing.

The trouble with us is that we are too full of our Orison Sweet Marden. Hand us the Schopenhauer, with the other leading cities of the country.

ENGLAND AND RUSSIA.

Don't miss the great intellectual battle between England and Russia. It is a spectacle without precedent in history, and once you master its strategy you will regard ordinary physical combat between nations as primitive and crude.

England has just launched another intellectual drive, if we may apply to mind a term so well known of matter. The Russians have been told in a second solemn communication that if they do not cease to think and speak evil of the British Empire it will break off diplomatic relations with them. The London correspondent of the Post-Dispatch explains this. A blast against Russia is necessary now and then to keep conservative opinion from doing something that would injure her trade with England. It is not necessarily true, so we are told, that Russia is doing all the things she is charged with doing. The point is that the charges remind Russia of her interdependence. She needs her trade with England as much as the British need their trade with Russia. It is their habit to make one another realize this once in a while. Nobody in England takes seriously Sir Austen Chamberlain's charge that Russia is responsible for anti-British feeling in China. It is not, as members of the Labor party point out, possible to prove that. It will also occur to anyone that the Chinese are equally hostile to all other foreigners with concessions in China.

Nevertheless, that is the way in which England and Russia speak of each other. When Tchitcherine and Bukharin sold England they care as little for fact. In an intellectual battle a good many heavy shots are fired for psychological effect. The British know full well that the Chinese shot will fall in the region of unbelief, but the big bang it makes serves the purpose of a hit. The Russians do the same thing when they exaggerate their expectations of the British coal strike. Their psychological range-finder functioned perfectly when they did that. In a warfare of mind the marksmanship is even finer than when it is a mere warfare of matter. The grim look of the artilleryman while hurling death beyond the distant hill is not characteristic of the intellectual gunner pitching thought across the sea. The latter is less grim than sardonic. It is a greater science. The calculations are more difficult, the consequences more devastating. He is a clever fellow. Therefore he smiles.

You must look at it thus. You are witnessing another sort of war. Two great nations with opposing political philosophies are trying to overcome each other mentally. Physically, they could not get anywhere opposing each other. Perhaps it is just as futile for them to oppose each other intellectually. But great peoples will fight, and business can make them very polite.

SEA AND STARS AND YOUTH.

Co-education may be a shining success on land, but on sea—"Never again!" So says Henry J. Allen, editor, publisher, man of letters, partner in William Allen White's "The Maritime Adventures of Henry and Me," and ex-Governor of Kansas.

This accomplished man was placed in tutorial command of that "floating university," the Ryndam, on which a number of college boys and girls embarked on what the sponsors fondly imagined would be a cruise of knowledge.

Well, it was a cruise of knowledge, even though the eminent Kansan shakes a dubious head. Knowledge is a fine, variable, capacious word. The dull knowledge of prosaic tomes, it appears, was not on the Ryndam's luminous list. The melody and the magic of sea and stars, with youth aboardship, made textbooks walk the plank, and lyrics and epics and dreams of derring-do claimed all the wondrous hours. The distinguished Kansan ruefully acknowledges this. He will never again essay the job of dean or chancellor or chaperone of adolescence on the far blue amorous billows. He seems disconsolate. Perhaps that is the Kansan viewpoint. Glory be, it is not Missouri's. Though we grow old and wiser, perhaps, we still remember "the April days of mating, the fair days, the rare days, the days that never die."

A salvo to the Ryndam, a bottle over her prow.

DOC ENLOE'S LEISURE.

Doc Enloe runs the penitentiary, is managing director of a mining company, practices medicine, and, so they say, is Sam Baker's guide, philosopher and friend in the job of governing "Imperial Missouri." Now we dare the probing committee to find out how Doc puts in his leisure time. Is it bridge, penuche, poker or golf?

THE POLICE HOME RULE BILLS.

There appears to be little prospect for St. Louis to obtain complete control of its Police Department at this session of the Legislature, unless the House and Senate can get together on a satisfactory measure.

In the House the three so-called Beedle bills have gone to engrossment. These bills provide for repeal of the law which gives the Board of Police Commissioners power to decide what money is needed for the department, which the Board of Estimate must provide, or be subject to imprisonment. But they leave the appointment of the Police Commissioners in the hands of the Governor. This would be a step toward home rule, in so far as it gave the city the right to control its own money.

The Senate has before it a bill introduced by Senator Ford of Nodaway, based on the recommendation of the Missouri Association for Criminal Justice. This would give the city complete control of its Police Department, the object being to put an end to the system which, for political reasons, causes a change in the personnel of the Board of Commissioners with a change of Governors. As the Association for Criminal Justice pointed out, "the administration of police, in order to be effective, should be as continuous as the administration of public schools." A good policeman, or a good Police Commissioner, is not made in a day. Commissioners appointed by Governors may or may not be familiar with local conditions. The objection to home rule, that a Police Department may fall into the clutches of local politicians, does not invalidate the principle that cities have a right to govern themselves in police matters. State political meddling is as undesirable as any other.

But we must have agreement among the legislators, if we are to get any degree of home rule at this session. And the law makers should get together on the bill embodying the ideas of the Association for Criminal Justice. Place St. Louis in line, in this respect, with the other leading cities of the country.

HOW TO GO WITH ADMINISTRATION APPROVAL.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

POLITICAL APATHY IN ENGLAND.

From the London Outlook.

THE root fallacy of the old Liberal theory of annual Parliaments and universal suffrage was the idea that everybody was interested in politics all the time. It is simply not true; life is too full of variety, and the more complex the type of civilization the more are we disposed to leave it to the Government to govern. Actually I am inclined to doubt whether the electors really elect a new Government; they simply turn out the old one when they are tired of it, and take the alternative.

I fancy that in the long run this tends to breed a sense of hopelessness and disillusion in public affairs—it is so difficult to get anything done, because so many people do not want anything particular to be done. In other words, politicians are beginning to realize that there are sharp limits to their power; public inertia stops them and leads, as Morley confessed, to compromise and the recognition that statecraft is the art of the second best.

This point of view has its dangerous side, since it leads to minority movements and minor rebellions within the body of the state; but that is to mistake the truth of the matter. Politics, like life, is essentially continuous; we can develop, but only on the traditional lines. The rebel and the innovator can deflect the curve a little way toward the left, but in the long run the right incorporates the heresy in its own orthodoxy and absorbs it in the main body of the state.

ON TO THE GLORIOUS CLIMAX.

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.

SOME time since the Washington administration announced its decision to land marines in Nicaragua to establish neutral zones and protect Americans and their property.

There was an immediate howl. Senator Borah protested vigorously. Liberal weeklies and organizations clamored against imperialism and all its works. But nevertheless and notwithstanding the Government went more or less serenely on its way landing marines and creating neutral zones. In the meanwhile, protestations have continued to resound throughout the land. To what end? The White House spokesman now intimates in his well-known solemn and portentous manner that the time is rapidly approaching when this country will have to adopt out-and-out intervention in Nicaragua. That means more marines, airplanes, battleships to prop the tottering regime of Mr. Diaz.

There will be renewed outcry. But this affair is eventuating so true to form, tradition and other things, it is a safe assumption there will be out-and-out intervention. In fact, our relations with Nicaragua are so entirely conventional in their procedure that it is a foregone conclusion they will reach a glorious climax in the making of a loan.

OH, MRS. HUDDLESTON!

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

IT wouldn't surprise us to learn that the dries have petitioned that Mrs. Huddleston's negotiation of the Catalina swim should be expunged from the records. It is now stated by her trainers that the young woman took no nourishment during the hours of struggle "except a half-pint of whiskey." It is our understanding that whisky hasn't been nourishment since the Volstead law went into effect.

A BEST SELLING PRAYER-BOOK.

From the Brooklyn Eagle.

IN England, as here, a half-and-half mixture of devotion and controversialism is a tempting offering to the mind-and-soul palate of the people.

We are told that today the booksellers all find their "best seller" in the new (revised) Book of Common Prayer. Philosophy and science are distanced. Fiction loses out. The paper-covered volume of 373 pages, eight inches by five, going at half a crown, or a trifle over 60 cents, a copy, is in such hot demand that the presses cannot supply everybody.

The psychology of this situation is precisely that which made intelligently run newspapers give first-page ranking and page-space consideration to the Scopes trial at Dayton, Tenn. That also was a half-and-half mixture of devotion and controversialism. It was news—the biggest kind of news. And the notion that everyday people of 1925 have forgotten all about their souls or all about organized religion is to be accepted on neither side of the Atlantic.

SAYING NO TO CAL.

From the New York Times.

IN the present instance, of course, it involved no special display of courage on the part of M. Poincare's Government to say no to Mr. Coolidge. Everybody is doing it nowadays. Congress said it in the case of the Interstate Commerce Commission, said it again in the matter of the three cruisers, has now said it with a shout in the matter of the farm bill. Mr. Valles says no. Mr. Diaz and Mr. Sacasa say no, at least on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Mr. Chen says no. It has even been suggested that sometimes Secretary Kellogg says no to his chief, or at least doesn't ask him in advance.

CAUSE FOR REJOICING.

(William Seagle in the current "American Mercury.")

Though life at times is burdensome and seems a silly jess, And we begin to have our doubts if it is for the best; The fifty ray illumines the gloom that hangs about us mortals know, To guide our futile journey through the vale of tears and woe; One cheerful thought arrests the mind that finds all life a curse— The calm consideration that, though things might be worse; One cheerful thought I always find, Life's dark clouds amass— The multitude of foolish laws that we how fail to pass.

I'll grant the laws are had enough burdened with today, But think on what would happen if we were to have no laws at all; Suppose that no proposal of a law failed— Then, one and all, Americans would most promptly fall; I know the law that bans all drink brings millions in its wake. It could have brought a million more, did not—lucky break!

Then gleefully I dare to toast in my Volstead glass The multitude of foolish laws that we how fail to pass.

Paris is the most European capital get trans-Atlantic telephone service. First conversation, we presume, will be, "Fayette, we are here."

The Italian people, we learn, are up football, probably because a football is the only thing in Italy they dare to be about.

Of Making Ma
JOHN G. NEIMA
Doubtful Doc.
PARODY. By Arthur Schnitzler.
Simon & Schuster.
Traumnovelle" (Dream Novel)
the title given by Schnitzler to curious Freudian fantasy here adapted by Otto P. Schinnerer rechristened "Rhapsody."
There are in the book only two characters of which the reader is certain—a doctor and his patient. The others that appear may or may not be "real," and it is the point of the book (if there be a point) to show how vague may be the boundary between reality and fantasy.
When the story opens, both the doctor and his wife are evidently in a bad way. They are approaching middle age, one gathers, and Hilde has begun to outgrow her youth. Neither, however (and one gets a sigh of relief at this) suffers these new capers with "youthful yearning," as so often happens. They both know better. In unguarded moments each confesses to the other a certain wildness for another party; and this is neither any good. Each secretly disappointed in the other,
he gives fantasy full rein, and the book is like a pair of prurient good kids who have just discovered that their heads are woozy with libidinous imaginings. Or is it imagination?
In the case of the bedeviled
Dr. Schnitzler, quite probably it is. But one is so sure about old Doc. He ends a whole night rambling about places where no saintly married man should be, though it does seem queer, considering the highly explosive condition of the man, at nothing eventuates. And when he comes sneaking home with his eyes in his hands just before dawn, happily none the wiser, he finds the lady by her dreamy mutters reveals the fact that she is still snoring industriously in imagination.
The point seems to be this: Did anything really happen to Doc, or was the old fool just kidding himself along? Schnitzler doesn't say; but, after all, maybe it doesn't matter.
Of course the book is well written.
FRONTIER DUST. By John Lord.
(Edwin Valentine Mitchell, New York.)
John Lord has lived an adventurous life and he is far enough away from it now to make a good story of it. Perhaps he has told very incident so often that he can't be sure just how it all really was at the time; but for that the reader should be grateful, for art is better than the crude fact, and something of the artistic process is to be noted in the aging of any story.
Mr. Lord went to war in 1863 when he was 17 years old, and apparently he is a born fighter.
After the war he went West and seems to have been especially happy in meeting famous and norious characters of the frontier.
Billy the Kid, the James boys, Bob Ford, Buffalo Bill and Roosevelt, his ranching days, together with others, appear in these chapters.
The editor has had the good sense to let Mr. Lord's language alone, and as a result the book sounds like an old-timer talking. It's good stuff.
NEGRO TENOR AGAIN
DELIGHTS AUDIENCE
Roland Hayes Sings Before a Capacity Crowd at the Odeon.
By THOMAS H. SHELMAN.
ROLAND HAYES, the Negro tenor, made his second appearance of the season in St. Louis last night, and, like all the recitals of this accomplished singer, it was a popular and an artistic success. He sang groups of French, German and English songs and,
as usual, concluded his program with a number of Negro spirituals.
Unfortunately for the interests of a general, and for Hayes in particular, this singer has been the victim of a sentimental and unfitted ballyhoo that proceeded largely from individuals who were not primarily interested in music, but in a consequence many persons have gone to their first Roland Hayes concert with the expectation of hearing "the best concert singer of his own race." But he is, unquestionably, an artist of the very first rank, for he brings to the concert stage a comprehension and a faculty for discrimination that are all too rare.
His native vocal equipment is extraordinary. A tenor with something of the reedy timbre associated with the clarinet, he is equally both in volume and range and he submits his voice to unusual force or ascends to his upper register, it tends to harden but his middle tones are lovely and his mezzo voice passages have a strating, heart-wrenching sweetness. Moreover, his apprehensive sense of rhythm, his poetic phrasing and his unerring intensity made the hearing of each of his songs a genuine esthetic experience.
Another legend in circulation describes Hayes as a virtuoso of the spirituals. It has insight into the Negro singer. It is such a meaningful sound, that any white singer equal gifts would be better qualified to sing Hugo Wolf and

TEXT OF PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE VETOING McNARY-HAUGEN BILL

products of wheat, meal or other products of corn, meats, or other products of swine.

"While there may be some conceivable way of reaching an import duty on these agricultural commodities as such there is no possible way of reaching any of the products of these commodities after they are processed. The result would be to throw all our processors and millers who would have to buy the commodity with the cost of the equalization fee added, into competition with imports from Canada or other countries who sent in any product of any of the basic agricultural commodities.

"Of course, the millers or other processors who happen to get desirable contracts from the board might be able to recoup that loss to a certain extent, but the milling capacity of the small mills and large mills is great enough to take care of twice the amount of milling and other processing to be done, and the mills which were not fortunate enough to get such contracts would be ruined.

"Fundamental of Tariff. "It is a fundamental principle in writing a tariff law that when a duty is placed upon a raw product that a compensatory duty must be placed on the manufactured or processed product in which the raw product is used. Here is a fee placed upon the raw product which might be imported. Raw products dumped abroad can there be processed and reshipped here to the disaster and destruction of this whole bill.

"Danger of Wrong Estimates. "In fixing the amount of the equalization fee the board must necessarily estimate the crop, because it is their duty to estimate the probable advances, losses, costs, and charges to be paid and to determine the amount for each unit. Of course, they are compelled to estimate the crop in order to estimate the number of units.

"One of the co-authors of the bill suggests that if the law had been in operation from 1925 the equalization fee on wheat should yield $131,750,000. I mention this to show the large sums involved. If either the estimate of the crop or the size of the fund needed should be inaccurate, so that there is collected many millions more than needed, there is no way to return it to the producer.

"Suppose there should be estimated an exportable surplus of 200,000,000 bushels of wheat and there is a surplus of but 100,000,000, the fund would be almost twice as large as it should be, and if the amount involved should be anything like that stated by Representative Haugen the board would have $55,000,000 or $60,000,000 more than needed of the farmers' money. There is no way to return it.

"Now, in the case of cotton there is provision that any excess that is accumulated for the stabilization fund shall be paid back to the producer.

"This is contained in section 10, subdivision (3), and section 11, subdivision (3). "Blanket Discrimination. "But there is no place in the law which provides for a return to the producer of other products where the assessment of the fee is an amount in excess of the necessary fee for that stabilization fund. There is quite a large variance from year to year of the amount of production of these different basic agricultural commodities, and it is manifestly unfair to provide that as to cotton the producer shall share in any excess collected, while as to corn, wheat, sugar, rice and tobacco, no such provision exists.

"In all the similar bills heretofore considered by Congress it has been thought necessary to provide for the return to all producers of any amount they should receive in excess of that required, and it is illogical and indefensible to deem it necessary to make that provision for the cotton producer and deprive the other producers of that benefit. This appears to be the rankiest kind of discrimination in favor of one crop and against all the other crops in the bill.

"Another difficulty will be in making proper estimates of the amount of products and the amount of the stabilization fund.

"Errors in Estimates. "It is improbable that this board could do any better in this respect than has been done by the Department of Agriculture. In spring wheat the estimates of the department have been 78,000,000 bushels too large, in winter wheat, 128,000,000 bushels too small and 14,000,000 bushels too large; in corn, 435,000,000 bushels too small and 457,000,000 bushels too large; in cotton the range has been 2,983,000 bales too small for 1926 and 3,288,000 bales too large for 1918.

"These are all recent estimates and show convincingly the impossibility of arriving at accurate conclusions. No roboter are allowed expert in cotton. Any year therefore that a large crop or wheat crop is estimated which turns out to be too high, too much money would be collected, and as it is not returnable, it would result in much loss to the farmer. If the crop were underestimated, the fee might not furnish a large enough sum to sustain the market on that particular commodity.

"The main policy of this bill is an entire reversal of what has been heretofore thought to be sound. Instead of undertaking to secure a method of orderly marketing which will dispose of products at a profit it proposes to dispose of them at a loss. It runs counter to the principle of conservation, which would require us to produce only what can be done at a profit, not to waste our soil and resources producing what is to be sold at a loss to us for the benefit of the foreign consumer.

"It runs counter to the well-considered principle that a healthy economic condition is best maintained through a free play of competition, by undertaking to permit a legalized restraint of trade in these commodities and establish a species of monopoly under Government protection, supported by the unlimited power of the farm board to levy fees and enter into contracts.

"For many generations such practices have been denounced by law as repugnant to the public welfare. It cannot be that they would now be found to be beneficial to agriculture.

Holds It Unconstitutional.

"This measure is so long and involved that it is impossible to discuss it without going into many tiresome details. Many other reasons exist why it ought not to be approved, but it is impossible to state them all without writing a book. The most decisive one is that it is not constitutional.

"This feature is discussed in an opinion of the Attorney-General herewith attached and made a part hereof, so that I shall not consider the details of that phase of objections.

"Of course, it includes some good features. Some of its provisions intended to aid and strengthen co-operative marketing have been borrowed from provisions that do represent the general trend of constructive thought on the agricultural program.

"In this measure, however, these provisions are all completely subordinated to the main objective, which is to have the Government dispose of exportable surpluses at a loss and make some farmer taxpayers foot the bill.

"This is not a measure to help co-operative marketing. Its effect, on the contrary, is to eliminate the very conditions of advantage that now induce farmers to join together to regulate and improve their own business.

A Real Problem.

"That there is a real and vital problem here is a fact and vital.

$1,000 for MOTHERS who tell us how Bond Bread has helped the health of their children

SOME ST. LOUIS MOTHER will soon win $250 for a little letter telling what Bond Bread has meant to the health of her children! If you have either a boy or girl you may be that winner. Altogether there are 161 cash prizes.

PERHAPS you remember the baking contest at the YWCA 8 years ago when Bond Bread started in St. Louis. You may have been one of the 2315 local housewives who brought their home-baked loaves to be judged by a committee of St. Louis women. If you were, you personally helped to create Bond Bread. For Bond Bread was copied from the best of the 2315 home-made loaves baked by St. Louis women that day.

It is now 8 years since St. Louis housewives helped to create Bond Bread. When they first tried it many women said to themselves:—"Yes, Bond Bread is more home-like than any baker's bread I've ever tasted. It does come nearest to my own home-baked bread. But will Bond Bread continue to be so good? Will they always put those same 'home' ingredients into it that they do now? Will they live up to the guarantee bond on each wrapper?" That was in 1919.

Since that time local housewives have answered this question for themselves by constantly expressing their preference for Bond Bread. In 8 years, the demand for Bond—the home-like loaf—has increased to a point never dreamed of in 1919.

No wonder wise mothers choose Bond Bread for their children. No wonder that boys and girls brought up on Bond Bread have strong bodies and alert minds. In these 8 years, 145,000 children have been born in and around St. Louis. Many have been brought up on Bond Bread because it is so home-like.

What has it done for your child? Write us a letter telling what Bond Bread has meant to the health of your boy or girl. Send a photograph (snapshot) of your child with the letter. You may win part of this $1,000. Read the directions at the right.

Ask your grocer for free entry blank

THE rules are simple. They are all printed on the entry blank that your grocer has for you. A photograph of your child and your letter on "What Bond Bread has meant to the health of my child" is all that is necessary to enter this contest.

No red tape. An ordinary amateur snapshot would be as good or better than a professional photograph. As for the letter, a grammar school graduate has as much chance to win as a college professor. The style of the letter will count nothing. Only the ideas expressed will be taken into consideration by the judges.

Agricultural problem is keenly appreciated by all informed men. The evidence is all too convincing that agriculture has not been receiving its fair share of the national income since the war. Farmers and business men directly dependent upon agriculture have suffered and in many cases still suffer from conditions beyond their control. They are entitled to and will have every consideration at the hands of the government.

Surely a real farm relief measure must be just and impartial and open the way to aid for all farmers. Surely it must not contemplate that farmers in some regions should be penalized for the benefit of those in other regions. Surely it must be aimed to promote the welfare of the community at large.

There is no thoughtful man who does not fully appreciate how vital a prosperous agriculture is to this nation. It must be helped and strengthened. To saddle it with unjust, unworkable schemes of governmental control is to invite disaster worse than any that has yet befallen our farmers.

It has been represented that this bill has been unanimously approved by our farmers. Several of our largest farm organizations have refused to support it, and important minorities in the members and leadership among the most important organizations who are recorded as giving it endorsement have protested to me against it.

It is not to be thought that the farmers of the United States want our agricultural policy founded upon legislation as is proposed in this measure. The final judgment of American farmers always has been and will be on the constructive side. What the farmers want and what the American people as a whole will approve is legislation which will not substitute governmental bureaucracy for individual and co-operative initiative, but will facilitate the constructive efforts of the farmers themselves in their own self-governed organizations.

Arguments Not Answered.

Although these arguments and others have been advanced in Congress and outside, I find little attempt has been made to answer them. The pressure for this bill arises primarily from the natural and proper sympathy with the farm distress from the after-war inflation, speculation, and collapse.

Many sincere and thoughtful people have expended a great deal of time and energy in working out this measure and are entirely honest and honorable in their advocacy of it. It is a great regret to me that I am unable to come to the conclusion that the bill would help agriculture, be of benefit to the country, and be in accord with the Constitution.

Other plans have been proposed in Congress for advancement in this recovery, which plans offer promise of sound assistance to the farmers without these unconstitutionalities, invasions of executive authority, the contracting with packers and flour millers and other manufacturers, this overproduction with its inflation and inevitable crash, without this indirect price fixing, buying and selling, the creation of huge bureaucracies.

They are, on the contrary, devoted entirely to the principle of building up farmer-controlled marketing concerns to handle their problems, including occasional surplus production, and applicable to all agriculture and not to a minor fraction. I have frequently urged such legislation. I wish again to reiterate my recommendation.

I am therefore obliged to return Senate Bill 4308, entitled "An Act to Establish a Federal Farm Board to Aid in the Orderly Marketing and in the Control and Disposition of the Surplus of Agricultural Commodities," without my approval.

Veto Causes Rally in Wheat on Chicago Board.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Word that President Coolidge had vetoed the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill caused a sharp rally in grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade. Wheat gained 1 1/2 cents and corn more than a cent. There was a noticeable switch toward the buy side and brokers reported offerings light. Previously in today's session the wheat market had shown a downward tendency.

NAMED CLERKS' HANDLE REFUNDS, SAYS M'KELLAR

Senator De... Circumstances Surrounding Some Repayment Suggests Fraud.

COMPTROLLER RULE ON CASES

Defeated by Republican and Conservative Democrats—Hawes Voted in Negative.

PAUL Y. ANDERSON, Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The large sum of $250,000 in tax refunds by the Treasury Department to corporations and wealthy individuals had been marked by circumstances suggesting fraud, was in the Senate yesterday after a when a combination of Democratic and progressive Republican senators tried unsuccessfully to get a law authorizing the Comptroller-General to scrutinize and upon all refunds of more than $500.

Since Andrew Mellon has been secretary of the Treasury, nearly $500,000 has been handed out upon the authority of unpaid clerks, supervised only by heads of departments, departmental clerks and a few assistants, who had introduced the measure providing for review by the Comptroller-General. "Over $500,000 was refunded in one to five men."

Yes," interjected a Hefflin (Dem.), "and one of those who was a very large refund of his was Edward L. Doheny. I informed that when this refund, amounting to many thousands of dollars, was received by him, he was for the name of the clerk in department who had handled matter. He found it was a fellow who was getting $2500 a year. Doheny gave him a job with his company, at a salary of $7500 a year."

I am told, moreover, that another $2500-a-year clerk made a large refund, and his reward was a job which paid $10,000 a year. It is perfectly clear that this situation is an open invitation to graft."

There is not a man in the Senate who will deny that these refunds should be reviewed by some independent authority," McKellar added. "There isn't a man here who doubts that Comptroller-General McKellar is the proper man to handle."

Arkansas joined the measure by remarking that, "the fact that certain people are opposed to this measure convinces me that it should be adopted."

People who have claims for tax refunds should be the very first to undergo a careful scrutiny," added. "A self-respecting man, on an honest claim against the government, would welcome such scrutiny. To oppose a measure which provides for a review of the Treasury Department's acts is to make a very poor compliment to the department. If I believed the Treasury Department was acting properly and honestly, and was a friend of the department, I would insist on an independent review of its action."

The Treasury Department is not this measure," McKellar retorted. "Why? It should welcome scrutiny upon its acts. Instead of making a sort of embargo every time a man tries to get any information about what it is doing."

Nearly $200,000,000 a year is paid out down there by clerks who names nobody knows. Such a sum only by division heads are equally unknown. It would almost be a miracle if fraud did not result from such a system."

We all know how these things are handled. Some clerk listens to ex-parte statements of the man who is seeking to refund, makes a ruling. It is laid on the desk of a bureau chief to be signed, and he signs it without knowing anything about it."

Coalition Beats Plan.

When McKellar's measure was voted on, however, the administration Republicans, aided by a small conservative Democratic contingent, were sufficient to vote it down. Those who voted with the Democrats were Senator Hawes of Missouri, Senator Reed of Mississippi, and Senator McPherson of Kansas.

The measure adopted instead, the Senate report which substituted a review and judgment by the Comptroller-General, a committee consisting of five Senators and five Representatives, authorized review all refunds of $75,000 or more.

However, the committee's power was vague. It is not authorized to order after such refunds.

After nine months, and the measure allows only 60 days for review before the refund is

RUSSIAN PRESS HOSTILE TOWARD BRITISH THREAT

"We Want Peace With England but Are Keeping Our Powder Dry" One Editorial Declares.

NO STATEMENT BY GOVERNMENT

Expressions of State-Controlled Newspapers Indicate Its Attitude — "No Proof" Is Chief Defense.

Copyright, 1927, by the Press and Pulitzer Publishing Co. (New York World Telegram & Sun)

MOSCOW, Feb. 25.—"If the British Government believes it possible to address unprovoked arguments to Soviet Russia, using a tone inadmissible in the year 1927 toward any colonial country, we think the reality will be a bitter disillusionment to all having similar opinions."

The one is more cryptic conclusion of an editorial in the Moscow Izvestia, organ of the Soviet Government, commenting on the Chamberlain note of warning.

All the newspapers print approximately four columns of the note on the first pages and much editorial comment. The tone is more controversial than repentant.

While Government officials refrained from comment, the editorials, voicing official opinion more closely than in any other country, indicate unanimity of attitude toward the crisis in the relations between the two countries.

Deny Government Is Involved.

All the writers explain that the statements "Chamberlain quotes are not expressions of the Soviet Government and, therefore, his charges are baseless. They refer to the comment of Ramsey MacDonald, former British Prime Minister, that the note is "foolish" and that it avoids the real issue of Russian assistance to the British miners and Russian sympathy with the Chinese. They also refer to the speeches of Lord Birkenhead, Winston Churchill and others attacking the Soviet Union and characterized the note as an expression of the Conservative party, rather than of the majority of the English people.

The informal manner of the delivery of the note received comment both editorially and in cables from London. A representative of the British Foreign Office is said to have taken the document to the Soviet mission in Chesham House, and not finding Aracy Rosenholz, the Russian Charge, at home, to have left it with a hall porter. Before Rosenholz found the note, it had appeared in the London newspapers, the Moscow Government thus getting its first notice of the note from a British news agency.

No Proof, Newspaper Says.

"Threat to annul the trade agreement or break treaty relations might indicate that the charges which were the basis of such threats had been proved in the note, or that some incriminating acts had been committed by the Soviet Government to justify such threats," says Izvestia. The editorial then refers to previous charges of Russian interference in the British general strike and the coal miners' strike and support of the Chinese Nationalists.

"England has no proof of these charges and did not even mention them," the editorial continues. "Evidently the British did not dare include in an official document their theory of the Chinese revolution—that Gorodkin's anti-British counsels were the cause of that great historical catastrophe."

The editorial characterizes as an impertinence the note's questioning of Tchitcherine's sources of information and quotes Winston Churchill's speech at Rome extolling the alliance against Russia and Lord Birkenhead's speech of June, 1925, calling Soviet officials murderers and robbers, declaring it could amplify indefinitely such accusations and the Soviet Union and its statements by English ministers, but that these are "sufficient to demonstrate that we have the right to complain of the systematic insult of the Soviet Union by British statesmen."

While Izvestia echoes the Government attitude, Pravda voices the views of the Communist party, which are invariably the same.

Denies Communist Control.

"The note," says Pravda, "identifies the political bureau of the all-union communist party with the Soviet Government, though we have denied this wise crack a thousand times."

It insists that the communist party does not control the Soviet Government, any more than the Conservatives control the British Cabinet. It also congratulates Chamberlain on not allying forced documents like the Zinovieff letter.

"The present British Government," says the Nasha Gazette, "does not express the opinion of the entire British people. And the immense majority will not agree to the reactionary policy of breaking relations with the Soviet Union and possibly involving the entire world in new intrigues and terrible consequences."

3 MOONSHINE PLANTS ON ISLANDS BURNED

Federal Agents in Motorboat Cruise Down Mississippi, Applying the Torch.

Federal prohibition agents in a motorboat by moonlight last night explored the islands of the Mississippi River which adjoins St. Charles County in the vicinity of Grafton, Ill., and made three large bonfires of as many abandoned moonshine plants.

Inspired by the success of a river raid in the same vicinity Tuesday night, when a large alcohol plant was discovered and burned on Big Viney Island, four miles west of Grafton, Group Chief James Dillon returned with his raiders to the district. Starting higher on the river, at a point about 30 miles overland from St.

Charles, they made a leisurely tour downstream, beginning at about 9 o'clock.

On the Barracks Island they found a large still house containing four empty vats with a capacity of about 7500 gallons of mash each. Finding no sign of life, the raiders applied the torch and drifted a half mile down stream to Criminal Island, where another still house and a large vat containing 8000 gallons of spoiled mash were found. A short distance farther, on Two Branch Island, a third still house, four large 3000-gallon vats, a dismantled 400-gallon capacity still and three gasoline pumps were found. This building, too, with its contents, was burned.

Dillon said today that the condition of the equipment on the islands indicated that moonshiners had not operated there since last summer. He estimated that the three bands of moonshiners had spent about $20,000 on their plants. The plant destroyed Tuesday night was new and had not yet begun to produce alcohol.

Attempt to Bomb Policeman's Home Laid to Bootleggers

An attempt to bomb the home of a St. Charles policeman at 9:15 a. m. today is laid by the Sheriff's office and Prosecuting Attorney Bloebaum to bootleggers' fire against an informer.

Edward Aubuchon, roomer in the house, told the Prosecuting Attorney after the attempt he would "tell the world" he was working for the Federal prohibition office in St. Louis. Prosecuting Attorney Bloebaum had just told a correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, in Aubuchon's presence, that Aubuchon personally conducted the agents Tuesday night to a huge moonshining plant on Big Viney Island in the Mississippi River near St. Charles.

Patrolman A. B. East, whose wife found two unexploded sticks of dynamite on their front porch with a fuse burned within little more than an inch of the cap, said that the alleged leader in the St. Charles bootlegging industry warned him a month ago that his house "would be blown up if he didn't get that roomer out of there." Some weeks ago the proprietor of a garage where Aubuchon then worked received a similar warning. Aubuchon's friend, Gus Hallbrugge, was aroused at 1:30 a. m. today by an explosion which shattered glass, splintered wall boards and loosened plaster in the front of Hallbrugge's roadhouse, a mile north of St. Charles.

Thimble Co., Inc., Officers Also Tell Bankruptcy Referee Expenses Increased Greatly.

The financial difficulties of Thimble Co., Inc., women's apparel establishment, 714-16 Washington avenue, were described in testimony by two officers of the company at a hearing yesterday before Referee in Bankruptcy Cotes. The concern went into bankruptcy last month, with assets of $3000 and liabilities of $40,000.

The corporation was formed Jan. 1, 1925, with a paid up capitalization of $30,000, and during its first year in business operated with a net profit of $1800. Last year it met with setbacks, the officers assert, and at the close of the year was in financial straits.

The two witnesses, J. M. Fishman of 605 Clara avenue and Robert Scissors of 6475 San Bonita avenue, testified that the lease on the seven-story building, for which a monthly rental of $2500 was paid. Prior to the organization Fishman operated a millinery shop on the third floor and Scissors a shoe store on the mezzanine floor, as part of an apparel shop operated by Samuel Schultz. Their business was so profitable, they testified, that when Schultz was forced to go out of business for what they said were financial reasons, they took him in as partner in Thimble Co., Inc., in order to retain his lease.

Couldn't Get Credit.

Schultz managed the ready-to-wear department and operated a fur department individually on the third floor. According to testimony yesterday he became so involved financially that he was unable to obtain credit and on a buying trip to New York last February purchased about $7000 of furs and had them charged to Thimble Co., Inc. Shortly afterwards he disappeared, they said. Fishman thought he paid for at least part of the fur shipment out of his own funds, but Scissors said the corporation made the payments.

Scissors thought Schultz' departure was a contributing factor in the downfall of the corporation, as he was the only member of the firm versed in the general ready-to-wear business. Fishman was of the opinion that heavy expenses and falling off in business in 1926 were primarily responsible for the collapse.

Another reason ascribed was a suit filed last June to revoke the lease of Thimble Co., Inc. Fishman said the legal action took him off the business and caused him to lose much time talking to lawyers. Last November the plaintiffs in the case were successful in breaking the lease.

Expenses Increase $35,000.

It was developed at the hearing that expenses of the company were $75,000 in 1926, as compared with $40,000 in 1925. Sales for the six-month period ending June 30, 1926, aggregated $80,000, or $15,000 less than for the same period in 1925.

Scissors testified that the payment by Thimble Co., Inc., of $10,000 on Jan. 7, 1926, to the Franklin Bank on notes of Fishman and himself was to offset salary claims they alleged were due them. Both officers testified their salaries were supposed to be $100 weekly, but declared they never drew more than $50 a week.

MISSING BRIDE FOUNDAT HOME OF HER PARENTS

Mrs. Frances Anna Kreibich left husband of own volition and will not return, she says.

Mrs. Frances Anna Kreibich, bride of six weeks who disappeared Wednesday afternoon from her home, 3916A Utah place, and was believed by her husband, Arno A. Kreibich, to have been kidnapped by a former suitor, was found by police yesterday in Carondelet.

She had not been kidnapped at all, she told the officers, but had left her husband of her own volition and did not intend to return. She said she left home Wednesday while her husband was at work and was residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Heckel, of 3316A Nebraska avenue.

Yesterday, Kreibich, who added the police in the search for his bride, declared that a jilted suitor had been annoying her since their marriage and was threatening to kidnap her.

Social Leaders Home Ransacked.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—In the absence of Mrs. L. B. Ordway, young social leader, who is at Palm Beach, Fla., thieves entered the Ordway home in the exclusive Lake Forest residential district and ransacked every room in the house. The amount of loot cannot be ascertained until Mrs. Ordway returns, police said, although it was known that valuable antiques, rugs, tapestries and objects of art were owned by the Ordways.

Ferguson Amnesty Repeal Favored.

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 25.—The Senate bill to repeal amnesty granted by the last Legislature to James E. Ferguson, who was impeached as Governor in 1917, was reported favorably last night by the House Judiciary Committee. The repeal measure has been passed by the Senate. Under the bill, political rights stripped from Ferguson with his impeachment were restored.

MCGREGOR TO BE HEARD IN PRISON INVESTIGATION

Democratic Member of Penal Board to be Questioned by State Senate Committee.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 25.—W. R. McGregor, Democratic member of the State Penal Board, whose official conduct is under fire along with that of Dr. Cortez F. Enloe, head of the board, probably will be the principal witness this afternoon before the Senate Committee investigating charges of misconduct and mismanagement in the operation of the State penitentiary.

The name of McGregor, who is in charge of penal farms and outside industries, was mentioned frequently by Dr. Enloe, in his appearances before the committee on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon. It is likely that McGregor will be questioned particularly about a conference last summer at the home of D. M. Oberman, chief purchaser of prison-made textile products. Dr. Enloe admitted that he, McGregor, Oberman and John Burnett, then the member of the board in charge of inside industries, were present at the conference but he has denied that it was called in an effort to make Burnett consent to sell penitentiary products to Oberman's company at prices which would have brought a loss to the State.

McGregor is to be represented by former State Senator William C. Irwin, but the privilege of cross examining witnesses has been denied the attorney by the committee's rules.

C. H. Fischer Left $75,529 Estate. Casper H. Fischer, 3852 Flora place, who died Jan. 15, left an estate valued at $75,529, an inventory filed yesterday shows. He bequeathed his estate to his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Fischer.

TAX INCREASES BY THIS LEGISLATURE APPEAR PROBABLE

Advance of 40 Per Cent in Property and 50 Per Cent in Income and Corporation Levies Likely.

SENATE DEMOCRATS CAUCUS ON MATTER

Situation Causing Upper House Majority No Little Worry in View of Party Platform Charges.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 25.—Increases of 40 per cent in the State property tax rate, 50 per cent in the income tax and 50 per cent in the corporation franchise tax by the present Legislature, today appear probable, in view of the failure of Democratic Senators in caucus last night to agree that the tax bills provide the Baker administration with more funds should be made caucus measures.

Unless there is a change in the situation among the Democrats in the Senate to the end that the Democrats make opposition to increased taxes a strict party policy and thus subject to caucus action, there appears to be a sufficient number of Democratic Senators to fight with the Republicans in passing the bills.

This does not extend to Gov. Baker's nuisance taxes on tobacco and amusement admissions, which passed the House several days ago and which soon will be up in the Senate for action. Opposition to this bill is almost as strong among Republicans in the Senate as among Democrats, and at the present time there is no indication that the bill will pass.

Attitude of Governor. However, the Governor is not insisting upon this measure, notwithstanding that it is virtually the only piece of important legislation the administration has put forth. He is insisting only that he be provided with more revenue and he would be willing to get it through increases in the present tax rates or through the nuisance taxes.

Taxation formed the sole subject of discussion in the Senate Democratic caucus last night, but aside from establishing reasonably well the line of division among the Democrats the caucus accomplished nothing.

The situation is one causing the Democrats no little worry. The party has a party in record through its platform charging the Baker administration with waste and extravagance and is on record for economy in public expenditures but its representatives in the Legislature have taken no caucus action on measures designed to reduce expenses or in opposition to the bills to increase taxes.

Problem Faced by Democrats. Failure to make the tax bills the subject of caucus action when the question is submitted to a vote of the caucus will leave the party virtually in the position of repudiating the platform. The situation is not eased at all by the fact that a group of Democratic Senators hold to the opinion that that is exactly what they ought to do, believing that additional funds are badly needed for the public school system and that failure to provide the money would be a more serious blunder than forgetting the rather general plank in the State platform.

In the group of Senators counted against any increase in taxes are Brogan and Kinney of St. Louis, Casey of Kansas City, Buford of Ellington, Donnelly of Lebanon, Hensford of Olesca, McCahey of Carthage, Painter of Carrollton and Whitecotton of Paris. Among those who are said to be disposed to vote the additional funds are Ford of Maryville, Gunn of Ottumville, Haynes of Springfield, McMurray of Rutledge, Snodgrass of Eldorado Springs and Wammack of Bloomfield.

In the group which it is said might go either way are Brown of Poplar Bluff, Browne of Brookfield, Cave of Fulton, Gordon of Liberty, Hollingsworth of Mexico and Searcy of Eminence. Not all the Democratic Senators attended the caucus last night, and another will be held early next week to consider the subject again.

Coolidge's Guests of Hoovers. WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—President and Mrs. Coolidge were guests at a dinner given last night by Secretary and Mrs. Hoover. Bureau chiefs of the Department of Commerce and their wives were the only other guests.

Near East Relief Spends $3,378,000. WASHINGTON, Feb. 25.—The Near East Relief, in a report to Congress, shows disbursements of $3,378,000 during 1926 in its overseas work for child refugees. The total number of children cared for was 35,000, of whom 17,000 were in its 65 orphanage schools and 18,000 placed in homes and industries. A deficit of $78,000 for the year was explained by Cleveland E. Dodge, the organization's treasurer, as due to the failure to collect a large amount of insurance for losses in the burning of its warehouses in Piraeus, Greece.

NOTABLE PAINTINGS IN M'CALL COLLECTION
The Van Dyck Bought by St. Louisian to Be Placed in Distinguished Company.

The Van Dyck portrait of Queen Henrietta Maria of England, painted about 1645 and recently bought in London by Warner S. McCall, will not lack for distinguished company when it reaches its new home at 5145 Lindell boulevard.

McCall's collection includes the West portrait of Washington at 23 years of age and a portrait by Sir Thomas Lawrence of Benjamin Franklin; the Rubens copy of Raphael's "Leo X and Secretaries"; study of a female saint by Velasquez; one of the "Ascensions" of Titipolo; a nativity by Bassano; two large canvases, landscape studies in the Alps, by Caspar Poussin; a Murillo, two Parmigianinos; two examples of the Rubens school, one of them showing possible traces of the work of Van Dyck, and a small, superbly painted crucifixion by Michelangelo.

Romney and Gainsborough. The collection includes examples of the English school of 1775-1815. There is a pasty study of Lady Walgrave by Romney, perhaps the only one he did; a splendid portrait of Mrs. Johnston-Oglesby, by the same painter. Next to the latter picture hangs the portrait of Mrs. Bingley by Gainsborough. Most of the two canvases by John Hoppner, another contemporary of Romney—the "Mother and Child," and the portrait of Mrs. Battle. Another painting of the period is the portrait of Charles Gordon, fourth Earl of Aboyne, by Sir Henry Raeburn.

High up on the wall of the private gallery is a Turner study of the Grand Canal in Venice. Unlike most pictures by the English painter, it is a large canvas. Other pictures in the collection are a Corot landscape; a landscape by George Inness; a country scene by J. Hermitte; study of a horse by George Morland; John Opie's portrait of the youthful Sheridan; a John Constable landscape; a Franz Kessler study, markedly realistic, of an English court lady; a Troyon "Turkeys"; "The Messenger," a famous study by Claude Lorraine; and a study of clouds and sunlight by Alexander Wyant.

Other Art Treasures. Paintings form the bulk of McCall's collection, but he has acquired a number of rare articles, including early Chinese porcelains, valuable plate and jewels, candelabra, and antiques that are intimately associated with world history. Among them is a huge goblet of hammered silver, which was once owned by Charles II of England, the son of the Henrietta Maria whom Van Dyck painted.

There is a great candelabrum brought with many articles, which George III of England gave to the Duke of Wellington as a sign of esteem, and which the Duke of Wellington gave to the Duke of Cumberland. There is a miniature bust of Lucius, Varus, brother of Marcus Aurelius, carved out of opax by Benvenuto Cellini and mounted on a decorated golden pedestal. It was given to Francis I of France by the Duke of Richmond.

An entire collection of stoneware, owned formerly by the mad King Ludwig of Bavaria, are now in the McCall collection. There are three extremely ornate vases, that formerly belonged to Franz Joseph of Austria. In marked contrast are two other vases—Moorish porcelains done in gold and blue—which were owned by the painter Diego Velasquez. The collection of plate includes hundreds of pieces, many of which are associated with the history of half a dozen European royal families.

McCall last year acquired the residence formerly occupied by Brookings, a long on Lindell boulevard. He had the interior virtually rebuilt, making many alterations in the private gallery, built by Long to house his collection. The gallery is a huge room, lighted by a skylight, and with the upper falls fringed. The fresco are by Mowbray who did the decorations in the Morgan Library, and in the University Club of New York.

Profile of Queen Henrietta. The Van Dyck study of Queen Henrietta Maria, wife of the ill-fated Charles I, who died on the block in 1649, is one of some 14 or 15 studies of Henry IV's daughter, made by the Flemish painter. Van Dyck was knighted by King Charles for the excellence of his paintings of the British royal family. The portrait acquired by McCall is a profile study, perhaps the only one extant, in which the Queen is seen facing to the right. The better known profile study shows the Queen facing to the left.

McCall declined to tell how much he paid for the picture. He also declined to tell from whom he bought it. It is known that this profile portrait was given by the British monarch to Anna, Duchess of Hamilton, and thereafter passed through various noble hands during two centuries. Two other studies of the Queen, made at the same time for use by a sculptor whom Charles had commissioned to make a bust of his consort, are now in Windsor Castle.

Made Fortune in Utilities. McCall, a civil engineer, made his original fortune in public utilities in Tennessee. In 1911 he was vice president of the St. Louis Car Co. He helped found the Central Power & Light Co., operating in several states and in Mexico, and in 1926 sold out his interests to the Middle West Utilities Co. of Chicago. His net income tax re-

Dull Monotony of American Breakfast

Standardized Breakfast Menus—A Considerable Thought on the Part of Housewives.

The honored dictum that when we eat down we must also construct, is what we should advise our English cousins as well as our American sisters.

Vary the monotony of breakfast by all means, but vary it by introducing an even greater standardization rather than by increasing the complexity of the breakfast menu.

Although alike in the fact that both are standardized, English breakfasts differ as to type. For example, merely to introduce the American habit of beginning with fruit would go a long way toward improving the appetizing quality as well as food value of the English meal. This might be varied by introducing another American custom, that of varying the hot porridge with crisp butter or shredded breakfast foods.

Now, what may they do for us? Undoubtedly they can cook better than many American housewives. Our menus might be improved by copying English ones of that special food. The bacon, ham or other hot breakfast food may be made infinitely more attractive and vastly more healthful by the simple addition of generous portions of water, cream, custard, taken quite as a matter of course.

Next, who ever heard of an English breakfast without "marmalade"? And who ever heard of an American family that served it as a matter of course? Judicious use of orange or carrot or date marmalade might bring up the food value of a too-hastily eaten American breakfast, supplying body with a missing material for a busy day.

Is not the question of varying the standardized breakfast menu worthy of considerable thought on both sides of the water?

Food and but "qualifying" that must be considered if the foods in question are to fit properly into our well balanced diet.

Most of the time, the standardization of breakfast is a matter of convenience, not of health.

AFTERNOON TEA

A POPULAR FUNCTION.

America Is Fast Following the English Custom of Afternoon Tea.

Five o'clock when lunch is far behind and dinner yet to come is perhaps the pleasantest time of the day for light refreshment. The tea table, covered with linen as exquisitely as one desires, should be ready to receive the tea things in the room where guests are to be entertained.

In all but the most elaborate homes silver tea sets are seldom used. The favorite choice is tea spoons and serving plates of gaily colored china with sparkling tea sets.

The accompaniments to afternoon tea are as varied as the tastes of personal taste; these may include hot breads and elaborate sandwiches, layer cakes and all kinds of delicate pastries, or simply toast and marmalade. With the tea itself one is usually offered the choice of "cream or lemon." Three or four whole cloves stuck into each lemon slice add a spicy pungency to the tea. Other delicious flavors are found in orange marmalade, candied ginger, rose-petals, or mint leaves.

To brew the finest tea, the pot should be heated by filling with boiling water and emptying before using. Put the fresh tea leaves into this warm pot, allowing one teaspoon of Oolong or a scant teaspoon of Ceylon or Orange Pekoe for each cup. Pour on freshly boiling water. If the water is below the boiling point it will not draw out the essential oil which gives the tea its delicate flavor. Water that has boiled for some time tastes flat and insipid. Never allow the tea itself to boil, for it extracts the tannin which is a deleterious element.

Let the tea stand three to five minutes until the desired strength is reached, and serve.

Afternoon Tea.

No. 1, with orange. Serve tea hot, without milk, allowing a slice of orange to each cup, adding a few cloves, if desired.

No. 2, with preserved fruit. Serve tea hot, without milk or sugar, allowing a teaspoon of strawberry, raspberry, cherry or pineapple preserves to each cup.

Spiced Tea.

One cup sugar. Pinch each of cinnamon, cloves, allspice and nutmegs. Boil together until it becomes a thick sirup, and use to sweeten tea instead of sugar.

Russian Tea.

Very type of tea is being served very generally at fashionable teas and tea tables. To make it take one quart of freshly drawn boiling water and one dessert spoon black tea. Pour the water over the tea and let draw. For each cup of tea use one slice lemon, one Maraschino cherry cut in small pieces and a bit of crystallized ginger.

Clove Sugar.

Clove sugar is delicious to serve with tea. For clove sugar, take one-fourth cup granulated sugar, one tablespoon lemon juice, 12 cubes loaf sugar, one-half teaspoon ground cloves.

Place cubes of sugar in cup and sprinkle with lemon juice. Then stir in granulated sugar, which has been mixed thoroughly with cloves.

PORK TENDERLOINS MAKE SAVORY DISHES

Delicious for the Home Meal and Appropriate When Entertaining Guests.

Pork tenderloins are usually split open lengthwise, cutting not quite through, so as not to detach the halves. Then they are rubbed with salt and pepper, brushed with melting butter and broiled. Instead of splitting the pieces wide open, a slit may be made down the side into which well-seasoned forcemeat is to be pressed. If orange juice and grated orange rind are used in a bread stuffing the mingling of pork and fruit flavors is delicious. This should be roasted about an hour, basting every 10 minutes with orange juice and melted butter.

Thicken this pan gravy and add chopped olives to make a sauce to serve over the fillet.

Stuffed Tenderloins.

Split three pork tenderloins so that they lie flat. Meanwhile prepare the stuffing as follows: Toast enough bread to make two cupsful when crumbled. Place in a bowl and pour over one-third cupful of boiling water or enough to moisten the crumbs well. Then add one egg beaten lightly, one-half cupful of butter, one-half small onion finely minced, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of celery salt, one-eighth teaspoonful of powdered sage, and a speck of pepper. Mix all together until light. Then spread this mixture on the pork tenderloin, about one-quarter to one-half inch thick. Roll up the tenderloins and tie with string. If necessary, arrange in a baking pan, sprinkle lightly with salt, put about one-half cupful of water in the pan, and bake for about one hour or until the tenderloins are tender. In serving, cut and remove the strings. A gravy can be made from the drippings in the pan if desired.

Pork and Apricots.

Have the tenderloins cut in inch-thick crosswise sections, then flatten with a cleaver; roll them in the bread crumbs, then dip in beaten eggs to which two tablespoonful water have been added, then again in the bread crumbs, and saute in drippings or other good fat to a nice brown; remove to a hot dish. Drain a small can of apricots well, then saute in the pan, turning carefully. Arrange the apricot halves about the pork fillets and garnish with sprays of green. Make gravy from the fat in the pan, adding a few spoons of the apricot juice.

Pork Tenderloins. (German style.)

Cut pork tenderloin in suitable pieces for serving, and cook in melted butter until slightly browned on both sides. Cover and cook gently about 15 minutes, turning over twice. Then add sweet cream to cover the pork and simmer about 15 minutes. Sprinkle meat lightly with salt and remove to serving dish, and thicken the cream in the pan with a little flour, stirring frequently, about 10 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper and pour over the pork. Serve immediately with a thin slice of lemon on each piece of pork.

Brown Sugar Hint.

If brown sugar is kept in an open jar it will not become hard so quickly.

Light as a Feather!—every time you bake cake, waffles or pastries with this wonderful flour.

Get a box from any grocer. Use half of it. If you do not say it is the best cake flour you ever used, return box with half the flour to grocer within 30 days and he will refund your money. Made by Kellogg's.

CONCORDIA TEAM FAVORED ON FORM OVER ST. LOUIS U.

Schools Will Meet Tomorrow in Annual Basketball Contest at Billiken Gym.

Concordia Seminary and St. Louis University will meet in their annual basketball contest tomorrow night at the Billiken Gymnasium, West Pine and Spring, at 8 o'clock.

The Seminary, undefeated this year, figure on form as easy victors, as the Billikens have not won a victory all season. Due to the traditional rivalry between the two schools, however, the game may develop into as good a contest as the last two St. Louis-University games, in which the Billikens played far above their usual form.

Couche Eber Simpson, who developed a strong quintet at Concordia out of seasoned material, while Coach Hunter at St. Louis has had his back to the wall trying to stave off defeat with a team of willing but inexperienced youngsters.

Schmidt, star forward for Concordia, will be missing from the lineup due to an injury, but Matt Chuvale and Dan are experienced substitutes and Schmidt's absence will not be greatly felt. Pope and Denver will start at forwards for St. Louis with Riley at center and Strong and Knight at the guards.

Ten Yankee Regulars, Including Babe Ruth, Are on Unsigned List

First Sacker Gehrig Is Lone First String Athlete Who Has Affixed Signature to 1927 Contract—McGraw Worried About Roush.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—There is long-range pen-and-ink duel between Business Manager Ed Barrow and 10 Yankee holdouts.

First Baseman Lou Gehrig is the lone top-string warrior in the contingent moving out of the metropolis tonight for St. Petersburg. Orders call, however, for a total of 21 players to report for practice Monday. Some will go direct from their homes.

Most of the regulars have failed to come to terms. Babe Ruth is due here next Tuesday to battle on his arrival at the camp next week.

Reports from the Athletics' camp said that Manager Mack was well pleased with the condition of his pitchers and catchers, who have been limbering up for nearly a week.

Mack is warning of over-confidence. "The American League," he said, "is too strong and too evenly balanced to justify one club believing that it will have a joy ride to the championship. It is all right for a team to have a good opinion of itself, but it must not overlook the formality of winning games."

English Still Missing. By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—No further word had come to the Chicago Cubs from their $50,000 boy shortstop, Elwood English, of the Toledo American Association club, when the main body of the Cubs reported yesterday for spring training.

"Like Game Too Well to Quit," Says Comiskey

Scandals Have Not Shaken Faith in Baseball, He Tells Foster.

By John B. Foster. (Copyright, 1927.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Chicago has been a storm center for baseball scandals all winter, but the major impression gained by the writer is that baseball in the metropolis of the Middle West in the 1927 season will be zooming, zipping and causing violent outbreaks of hysteria among the fans.

Some time during the season, Chicago will have one of the finest baseball structures in the world. It is not a stadium. It is an orthodox baseball stand, built for baseball purposes by the most stubborn fighter for baseball who ever came out of the old American Association. The man is Charles A. Comiskey.

"They asked me," Comiskey said, "why at my age I was adding to the stand of my park. It's because I love baseball and believe in baseball, and although they've given me many a hard knock when I've been fighting for the best, they've never shaken my faith in the sport nor have they shaken my belief in the ultimate good it does for the boys and young men of America."

Not Through With Game. "I'm no more through with baseball than I was when I argued years ago with Cap Anson—that great old batter—and told him that he could run the National League if he thought that way, but he couldn't run the Browns. And he didn't."

Comiskey is not a misanthrope about the game of baseball. "I've seen it come and go since I was a boy," he said. "It has its ups and downs. And why not? Do you ever stop to think of the varying temperaments, dispositions and degrees of skill that are amalgamated so that you can see a ball game that is a fight from start to finish? What do I care how a player makes a home run. He can make it efficiently or he can make it with the handle of his bat, but if he hits the ball over the fence that's what I want."

The stand of the Cubs is being enlarged by William Wrigley, who owns that baseball club and who has as much confidence in baseball as Comiskey.

Wants Championship Team. Wrigley never had the playing experience of Comiskey. When the "Old Roman," who bosses the White Sox, was playing first base, Wrigley was managing his boyhood days in work but he is one of those old-fashioned boys to whom baseball is a part of boy life and the athletic life of the United States.

Comiskey wants to be the head of a championship team. He is likely to be. He is so hopeful that he has started a second deck of seats all around his baseball stand and he dreams evidently now and then that he is standing on the top and looking down upon the Cubs as they play in a world series.

"But I'll not be through after the first series," he says cheerfully. "The will only whet my appetite. I'm coming back for five or six more. Chicago is the greatest city in the world. Why shouldn't I get into the world series to prove to the municipal greatness in all things?"

Now for the "Darby." TOM KEARNEY'S first odds on the derby are in circulation before the official entries have been made public. That may be taken as an indication of the keen interest in this event which will be having its fifty-third running next May.

Better than anything else this indicates that interest in horse racing is something more than a momentary gambling fever.

The future book seems a fearful and wonderful thing. Take for example the opening odds against derby contenders that may never go to the post: Command and Justice F. 6 to 1. Scapa Flow and Chance Shot, 8 to 1. Rip Rap, 10 to 1.

Fair Star, The Satrap, Valorous, Wood Lore, Jopagan, Whiskery, Bostonian, Bit o' Love, Boo, Dolan, Sweepster, Sankari, all 20 to 1.

Last Night's Fights.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO.—Bud Taylor, Terre Haute, defeated Eddie Shea, Chicago (10). Dave Shade, California, beat Walcott Langford, Chicago (10). Emil Paluso, Salt Lake City, won from Trip Linhace, Philippines (six). Don Davis, Chicago, beat Armando Santiago, Cuba (6). Dominick Petrone, New York, and Harry Forbes, Columbus, O., drew (eight).

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—Bud Nolan, San Francisco, defeated Willie Pioner, all-service middleweight champion (10). FASSAIC, N. J.—Tom Sayre, Detroit, defeated Leo Gates, New York (10).

NEW YORK.—Paulino Uzcudun vs. Knute Hansen (10). Tom Heeney vs. Charley Anderson (10). Lew Hurley vs. Joe Salas (10).

It will take $100,000 to reimburse him for the clothes that now no longer fit him. At any rate if Babe is correctly reported in the reduction matter, his friends should feel grave concern for him.

The Bambino may now have a gazelle-like girth, a perfect 39 in equatorial circumference; but the conditioning process would seem to have been fraught with some unpleasant reactions.

Violent reduction always works violent results. Babe is no spring chicken to take physical liberties of this sort. Reductions of this sort should be achieved more gradually.

The fact that he exerted self-sacrifice and accompanied it by the heroic travail necessary, stamps the achievement as about the biggest thing Babe ever has done. Self-denial is not the easiest thing in the world for one who has never denied himself anything in this life. Babe's morale will be mightily strengthened, even if his physique proves not so wonderfully benefited.

The Yankees club will have to admit that the Babe for once has made a serious effort to give the club the very best he has in him.

Babe's Greatest Feat. I N an effort to convince the New York American League club's paymaster that he is worth $100,000 annually, Babe Ruth has taken 3 1/2 inches off his waistline. Probably he feels BREAKING THE RECORD. The world's record high jump by a horse was made by an American hunter in 1912—7 feet 6 1/2 inches.

"Class" tells in every record! Leave it to the "thoroughbreds" to break the records—whether it's horses or cigarettes! That explains why Piedmont ranks among the five best selling brands every year—and has since 1906. Men find something "different" in Piedmont's all-Virginia flavor; they discover a lasting delight in its rich and mellow mildness. And once found, nothing can take its place.

Note. With the sole exception of our celebrated Richmond Straight Cut, Piedmont is the only "Virginia tobacco" cigarette enjoying a national sale.

A New Mystery Thriller

By Carolyn Wells

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. Death strikes Garret Folsom while bathing at Ocean Town, N. J. It is thought at first he is a stroke victim, but investigation shows he has been stabbed to death beneath the water.

Folsom's swimming companions had been Roger Neville, a business partner; Mrs. Helen Farnham and Carmelita Vaidon. It is established that Folsom, just before his death, had been standing next to Ned Barrow, known as the copper king.

Anastasia Folsom, eccentric and masterful sister of the dead man, arrives and takes command. At the inquest it is learned that the death weapon was a pushpin, an Oriental knife, and that it had been brought on the boardwalk.

It is also established that one Croydon Sears is a fancier of curious knives. Anastasia engages Tins Riggs, an architect, to work on the case. Dan Pelton, the dead man's nephew, arrives. Anastasia questions Croydon Sears sharply as to his whereabouts at the time of the murder and he is unable to prove that he was not near the spot.

CHAPTER 21

THERE were but few at the funeral service of Garret Folsom. Of course, Miss Folsom and Dan Pelton were the chief mourners. They were attended by Paxton and Ross, who behaved as proper servants should, and watched for any opportunity of ministering to the wants of their employers.

The Riggs and Robin Sears attended, for they had the case well in hand now, and Riggs, like a hunter keen for prey, lost no possible chance to glean any bit of information. He scarce hoped to pick up any at the funeral, but there might be some hint or suggestion in the attitudes of the dead man's relatives that would be enlightening.

And there were some who dropped in out of mere idle curiosity, and others who were there because they chanced to be in the neighborhood.

Pelton had locked the door of his suite and thrown the key on the office desk as he came downstairs.

But that did not keep intruders from his room.

Scarcely had he left the hotel, in company with his aunt, than two smiling young people, with shrewd eyes watching out for spies, slipped quietly along the corridor and on to the girl's room. They produced a key and quickly gained entrance to the locked rooms.

"Here we are, Tubby," Myrtle said, as they reached their goal and looked the door behind them.

But after all their errand was of no more sinister intent than to look at the French dolls, which still sat in a gorgeous row on the sofa.

At last, that was what Myrtle, the chambermaid, wanted. Tubby, the bellboy, his alert mind longing for something more exciting, was opening, and shutting the drawers of the chiffonier.

"Hey, Tubby, don't you do that!" the girl cried out. "It's no harm for me to feast my eyes on these dolly-babies, but I won't stand for your snooping around in any of the rooms that I have charge of."

"Gee, Myrt, don't be a lemon, I ain't doing a bit of harm. You play with your dolls and lemme alone."

"They're not my dolls! I wish they were! Oh, if Mr. Pelton would only give me one of them!"

"Pinch it, I don't believe he'd ever miss it."

"No, I'm scared to do that. And the one I want—"

"Which one do you want?"

"This. This dark-haired one. Oh, my, but she's a beauty! Not the prettiest of all, maybe."

"Not much, she isn't! That yellow-top puts it all over her!"

"Well, I don't know. This was Mr. Folsom's favorite. He used to talk to this one."

"Did he? What would he say?"

"Why, he talked to it almost as if it was alive! He'd say, 'I'll have you yet, my beauty. I'll have you again—and soon!' You'd think he was talking to his sweetheart!"

Tubby honored the doll with a short scrutiny.

"Looks like somebody I've seen, but I dunno who. Say, Myrt, I wish I dast go through Mr. Pelton's suitcases."

"No, Tub, don't do it. Don't make me sorry I let you in here. You said you wanted to see the dolls."

"Huh, I only said that to make you let me in! I don't want to see those silly things! They make me sick!"

"Then we've got to get out. I'll never believe you again. But I'm afraid to come in here alone, and, of course, if anyone is here, I can't touch the dolls. Oh, you lovely! You beauty!"

She caressed and patted the dolls, and arranged them in coquettish attitudes on the sofa and chairs.

"Does Mr. Pelton fall for 'em the way Mr. Folsom did?" asked Tubby.

"No; he seems to like them a little, but Mr. Folsom, he acted like they were real girls!"

"Kiss I bet Mr. Pelton would give you one. Or ask the old girl. She'd do it."

"I dunno, Miss Folsom is nice some ways; then, again she's a terror!"

Taking advantage of Myrtle's absorption in the dolls, Tubby had opened a suitcase of Dan Pelton's and was rummaging among its contents. They were almost all papers and letters, and as she heard the rustle, Myrtle turned on the daring bellboy.

"Here you! Stop that! I told you I wouldn't allow that! I'm in charge of these rooms. I'm chambermaid and I'm responsible!"

"You responsible? That's a good one. Don't be silly, Myrt. I'll bet I could find sumpin' in those papers that might help solve the big mystery!"

"Oh! You a detective? Hello, Mr. Picklock Holmes! Now, if that's your lay, here's where you get off! March!"

Tubby's retort form was propelled toward the door by the spiteful vibrations of Myrtle.

Tubby was so to go, but he had to do so or make a scene, which might call the attention of the chief of the chambermaids and get a sound beating for Myrtle, if not for himself.

He made one last plea.

"Aw, lemme stay here a little minute more, Myrt, and I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll ask the old girl myself to give you one of the dolls. Or I'll ask Mr. Pelton. He sorter likes 'em."

"He won't let you if he hears you've been digging into his luggage! And I'll tell him, if you don't clear out here! Wait till I see if the way's safe!"

"Cautiously Myrtle opened the door a crack, saw that the hall was empty and then, pushing Tubby through, she followed him, unlocked the door with her pass key.

Myrtle was one of the most trustworthy chambermaids on the staff and never had she been false to the trust, nor entered a room except on her legitimate errands, until she had fallen under the spell of the wonderful dolls. Why they fascinated her so, she couldn't have told, but she was far from being alone in her adoration of the siren faces and bewitching garb of the puppets.

She had almost made up her mind to ask Mr. Folsom for one, for he had smiled on Myrtle in a way that she understood to imply his favor. Then came his sudden death.

The Greatest Story in the World

It came to pass that Sarah was taken into Pharaoh's house. And he entreated Abraham well for her sake; and gave him sheep, and oxen, and asses, and camels, and menservants and maidservants. And the Lord plagued Pharaoh and his house with great plagues because of Sarah, Abraham's wife.

Dry Hair

often way toward correcting the condition if it is not of long standing. However, if it is of long standing, the best thing is to have a doctor prescribe for you.

Then by giving systematic treatment to the hair and the scalp the excessive dryness will soon clear up. The following treatment is splendid: Massage olive-oil the scalp one night and the morning below the next.

3 ounces of white vaseline
1 1/2 ounces of castor oil
1 1/2 ounces of gaulic acid
20 drops of oil of lavender.
(Have the druggist mix formula.)

Alternate between the oil and the above ointment for two weeks and if the corrected condition to the improvement of the hair will be marked.

More Power

Only in recent months has the radio public begun to realize the full importance of supplying adequate power to the loud speaker.

The power tube was first placed on the radio buvers under the impression MORE POWER meant MORE ME alone. The power tube is, and has been, concerned with TONE TV. Without a power tube, CX-112 371, in the last audio stage, your receiver is incapable of delivering modern radio reproduction at its best.
